Over the past decade he has been teaching at the New World School of the Arts in Miami and the Dreyfoos School of the Arts in West Palm Beach and at Indiana University's summer music festival. Presently, David is professor of cello and Department Head of Strings at the Conservatory of Music at Lynn University in Boca Raton, Florida. David began cello study at four years old with Metta Watts, continuing with his father, Leonard Rose and Zara Nelsova until graduating from the Curtis Institute in 1967. Ralph Fielding teaches viola at the Lynn University Conservatory of Music and, each summer, at the Bowdoin International Music Festival. He previously taught at the University of Southern California, the University of California Los Angeles and Texas Tech University. He is active as a clinician at music programs around the country and has given master classes at such institutions as Oberlin College, the Cleveland Institute, DePaul University, the New England Conservatory, the San Francisco Conservatory, Rice University, the New World Symphony and the Colburn School. He has also been an adjudicator for ASTA, MTNA, Suzuki, AVS/Primrose and other competitions. He specializes in quickly getting players to reach their highest potential through combining a singing approach to music-making with simple ways to master the basic mechanics of bow control, shifts, string crossings and bow changes. Prior to his teaching activities, Mr. Fielding had a long history as an orchestral musician. As a teenager, he played a year in the Utah Symphony under Maurice Abravanel. He later spent 16 years as a member of the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra (including serving a term as Chair of their Auditions Committee) and has since helped students prepare musically and mentally for the most competitive of performance situations. His orchestral repertoire students continue to win positions in IC SOM and regional orchestras. In addition to his classical work, Mr. Fielding has played in the string section for dozens of Hollywood film scores (such as Ghost, Armageddon, Contact, My Best Friend's Wedding, The Parent Trap), sound recordings (for such diverse artists as The Counting Crows, the Wallflowers, Alanis Morisette, Wayne Shorter and Willie Nelson) and TV shows (including Futurama, Jag, and Star Trek DS9, TNG & Voyager) and was in the pit orchestra for Johnny Carson's last night as host of the Tonight Show. Ralph Fielding held a three-year term as the elected President of the American Viola Society, a 33-year-old, 1,000 member nonprofit organization that puts out a peer-reviewed Journal two or three times a year, sponsors the North American Viola Congress every two years (more than 400 registrants for the last convention in June 2004) and holds the Primrose Memorial Viola Competition, the nation's largest and most prestigious viola-only event. Mr. Fielding graduated cum laude from Yale University with a B.A. and M.M. in Music and an M.B.A. from their School of Management.
