

By Lynn University on March 23, 2020 2:00 PM

This message applies only to residential students who vacated campus and left belongings behind.

The university continues to adapt to requirements by local and state officials, which resulted in having all students move off campus by Saturday, March 21, and in campus closing today.

In anticipation of further measures that may be required by officials, we updated our procedure for keeping your items on campus: To ensure the security of your items and the health and safety of our staff, we need to relocate your items into secured storage as of March 30.

Our updated housing check-out process is:

1. Students can retrieve their items until Sunday, May 10. If you are able to return to campus to retrieve your items by then, please email Housing and Residence Life to receive access to campus and to receive guidance about the check-out process.
2. If you are unable to return by Sunday, May 10, the university will move your items from short-term on-campus storage to a long-term off-campus facility until campus reopens in August. Please note: Once items are relocated to off-campus storage, they cannot be retrieved until August. Details about this process will follow closer to the beginning of the fall semester.

Please visit the Housing FAQs for more information. You may also contact the housing team to let them know if you prefer they discard your items.