

By Lynn University on March 14, 2020 12:00 PM

Lynn University announced on March 13 that it will continue to deliver its curriculum online for the rest of the semester. Residence halls remain open, and we will continue to provide dining and student services. We understand that due to the coronavirus, however, some of our residential students may want to keep up with their studies from home, and they may do so.

We're asking all residential students to complete a Housing Intent Form to let us know whether they plan to:

- A. continue living on campus;
- B. temporarily leave campus housing, with the intent to return before the end of the Spring term; or
- C. move out of campus housing for the remainder of the semester.

Keep in mind that the situation is very fluid, and these options and corresponding university requirements may change.

Please complete review and complete the Housing Intent Form by noon Monday, March 16. (Must log in to MyLynn.)

Any residential student who needs help making their selection can contact Housing and Residence Life at +1 561-237-7236.

If you already moved out, please take a minute to complete the form so we can help you finalize your arrangement.