Bruce Murray joined the artist faculty of the Brevard Music Center in 1993. In 2003 he assumed a full-time, year-round role at Brevard as Dean and Artistic Administrator. Murray maintains an active performing career as a pianist and has presented hundreds of concerts as recitalist, chamber musician, and soloist with orchestra. Although he plays a broad swath of the standard repertoire, he is known particularly for his performances of Bach, Beethoven and Liszt, and for his commitment to new music. During a twenty-year tenure with the renowned Cadek Trio, Murray performed virtually the entire repertoire of music for piano, violin, and cello. From the time he left Yale until he moved to Brevard, Murray served on the faculty of the University of Alabama. Murray performs regularly at the Brevard Music Center and continues to teach each summer, primarily in piano literature and other courses. He is also familiar to Brevard audiences as program annotator, pre-concert lecturer, and podcast presenter.
