Mr. Weisberg has composed 50 works that have been published by the American Composers Alliance and Bassoon Heritage Editions, and has had several works commissioned, including a work for the Library of Congress. Kalmus has taken on several of his larger wind and orchestral works. He has also written Twentieth Century Performing Practices for Conductors and Performers, published by Yale Press; The Art of Wind Playing, published by G. Schirmer; and several editions of bassoon literature.

Mr. Weisberg has made appearances on National Educational Television performing the music of Edgar Varèse and George Crumb. He has made recordings with the New York Philharmonic, Contemporary Chamber Ensemble, New York Woodwind Quintet, and Ensemble 21. He can be heard on Nonesuch, DG, New World Records, Composers Recordings, and Summit Records labels. Several of his recordings have won prizes and two have been nominated for the Grammy award.

JIM BROSEMER

Jim Brosemer is an instructor and Director of Media Services for Lynn University's School of International Communications in Boca Raton, Florida. A graduate of the University of Miami's School of Journalism, Brosemer has been a fixture in South Florida Television news for more than three decades.

Brosemer began his career with ABC Radio in New York, returning to Miami in 1967 to work as a reporter, news producer and assignment editor for Post-Newsweek's WPLG-TV, while serving for six years in the U. S. Army Reserve.

In 1973, Brosemer was hired by WTVJ-TV, an NBC owned and operated television station in Miami where, for seventeen years, he shared anchoring duties with television news pioneer Ralph Renick.

In 1989 Brosemer was brought to the West Palm Beach television market to organize the news department for the start-up ABC affiliate, WPBF-TV. He also anchored the station's primary newscasts.

Four years later, Brosemer joined the news staff at Scripps Howards's WPTV in West Palm Beach, where he organized the station's investigative unit. He also was the station's political reporter, weekend news anchor, and the host and senior producer of a Sunday morning political program, South Florida Sunday.

Brosemer has been awarded four Emmys for investigative reporting, and a Silver Circle Award from the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences for more than a quarter century of service to the South Florida community.

Presently, as Director of Media Services for Lynn University Communications, Brosemer teaches television news writing, and is helping students develop new programming for commercial, cable and PBS television operations.
