

LYNN UNIVERSITY CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

2004
2005 SEASON

The Lynn University Conservatory of Music attracts some of the world's most talented young musicians. Here, these student-artists, who hail from more than a dozen countries, pursue their degrees in instrumental performance, preparing to join the world's leading symphony orchestras and most prestigious graduate music programs.

To build upon our excellence, we need your help. You may support the Conservatory of Music by contributing to scholarships, the development of new programs or other student needs. You may assist the conservatory the following ways:

THE ANNUAL FUND

A gift to the Annual Fund can be designated for scholarships, various studios, special concerts or to the General Conservatory Fund.

ESTATE GIFT

An estate gift will provide for the conservatory in perpetuity. Your estate gift may be made as a gift of appreciated stock, real estate or cash.

FRIENDS OF THE CONSERVATORY

As a member of the Friends of the Conservatory, you will be involved in an organization that seeks to address the needs of the students and the conservatory as a whole. This organization has just completed its first year and now includes more than 100 members providing major scholarship assistance to the students.

VOLUNTEERING

Become a volunteer. Contact the Ticket Office Manager at 561-237-9000 for more information.

Your contribution to the conservatory is tax-deductible. For additional information, you may call the development office at 561-237-7766, or visit the university's Web site at www.lynn.edu.

DANIEL ANDAI, violin

Hungarian-American violinist Daniel Andai is a top-prize winner of numerous competitions and awards including the 2004 Schlern International Music Competition in Italy. Other awards include winning the Beethoven Concerto Competition that resulted in performances with the Florida Philharmonic, two-time laureate in the International Soloist Festival in Moscow where he performed with the Moscow State Symphony Orchestra as well as the Mt. Dora Spring Festival Competition. He has performed in recitals and as soloist with orchestras in Europe, the Caribbean, the Middle-East and North America, receiving rave reviews from the Sun-Sentinel affirming, "His performance was outstanding... His virtuosity and lyricism dazzled the audience..." following his winning the Jewish Arts Foundation Competition. Also praised for "his pure, refined timbre... Daniel Andai proved a worthy solo protagonist... Andai's subtle vibrato and sensitive phrasing made the lyric delicacy blossom" by the Sun-Sentinel after appearing as soloist with the Renaissance Chamber Orchestra, in addition to being hailed by the Palm Beach Post as "the best involved soloist," following a performance with the Virtuosi Camerata.

Daniel Andai is currently the first violinist of the Vols String Quartet. He has performed in master classes for Elmar Oliveira, Zakhar Bron, Ruggiero Ricci and Aaron Rosand, who applauded him as a "very sensitive violinist." Daniel Andai presents benefit concerts annually in order to raise funds for the physically and mentally challenged through Best Buddies International and Missionaries of the Poor. He can be heard on WXEL National Public Radio, WKAT 1369 Classical Station, the new TV episode "The Box," and is a recording artist for AMZ Records.

Daniel Andai participated at numerous music festivals including Bowdoin (ME), Meadowmount (NY), Killington (VT), Lake Luzerne (NY) and Indiana String Academy (IN). He served as concertmaster of the Florida Youth Orchestra and the New World School Camerata. His awards and honors also include Jewish Arts Foundation and First Lady's Art Recognition scholarships, the Dean's Award for Achievement at the New World School in Miami, and the Certificate for Outstanding Musical Achievement, Dedication and Performance. He has been selected as an All-American Scholar and featured in "Who's Who among American High School Students." A resident of South Florida, Daniel Andai received a Certificate of Recognition from the Mayor of Miami Beach and an Appreciation Award for Community Service.

Daniel Andai is and Academic Honors senior student at Lynn University Conservatory of Music of Music, where he studies with Professor Sergiu Schwartz.
