ASD & Romantic Relationship Research

- In recent years, a surge of adult research has emerged primarily investigating:
 - Diagnostic issues & effectiveness
 - Comorbid diagnoses (White & DiCriscio, 2016)
- Sorely need improvements in the efforts toward understanding intervention effectiveness
 - Some exists for relationship tx & employment outcomes
- Research results are varied and heterogenous:
 - Only 2-31% report having experience in romantic relationships (Engstrom, Ekstrom, Emilsson, 2003; Howlin, 2004, 2012; Hovfander et al., 2009; Renty & Roeyers, 2006);
 - 73% indicate experience and interest in romantic relationships (Strunz, et al., 2016)
 - Males & females, age ranges, specifiers and intellectual disabilities
- Approximately one in four young adults with autism are socially isolated; they reported not seeing or talking with friends and were not invited to social activities within the past year. (NAIR, 2015)
- Martial satisfaction is high among ASD couples as compared to non-ASD couples (Lau & Peterson, 2011)
 - Attachment styles: avoidant & secure
- Males with ASD report significantly greater dyadic sexual well-being, including greater sexual satisfaction, assertiveness, arousability, and desire and lower sexual anxiety and fewer sexual problems (Byers, et al., 2013)

ASD & Romantic Relationship Research

- There are physical and mental health benefits to engaging in healthy & happy romantic relationships:

- Social relationships are seen as an essential domain of quality of life for people with and without disabilities (Verdugo, Navas, Gómez, & Schalock, 2012)
- Social participation is an important aspect of quality of life for ASD individuals (Orsmond et al., 2013)

- Exhibit social behaviors such as:

- One-way conversations
- Stalking or harassment
- Policing

(Stokes, Newton & Kaur, 2007)

A majority of adults with ASD report wanting to learn how to interact in romantic relationships

(Mehzabin, 2010; Strunz, et al., 2016)

Treatment outcomes:

- Adults with ASD in social skills treatment result in decrease in AS symptoms, feelings of loneliness, improvements in social skills and frequency of get-togethers (Laugeson, et al., 2015)
- Romantic relationship treatment as usual can improve social skills and empathy in adults with ASD (Cunningham, et al., 2016)

Ecologically Valid Skills

- Ecologically valid vs. “what we should do”?

- Gaining declarative & procedural knowledge around dating and romantic relationship skills

Evidence-Based Methods for Social Skill Acquisition

1. Didactic instruction

- Structured lessons with concrete rules of social interaction/etiquette
- Socratic method

2. Role-playing or Modeling

- Appropriate and inappropriate demonstrations
- Social thinking

3. Behavioral rehearsals with in session coaching

- Performance feedback

4. Real-world practice and application

- Homework
- Social coach feedback

❖ Ideal conditions:

- ❖ Small group format (7-11)
- ❖ Concurrent instruction for social coach
 - ✦ Feedback loop
 - ✦ Generalization and maintenance of skills

Matson, 1984; Davies & Rogers, 1985; Fleming & Fleming, 1982; Mesibov, 1984; Gresham, Sugai, & Horner, 2001; Gralinski & Kopp, 1993; Rubin & Sloman, 1984, Frankel & Myatt, 2003; Rao, Beidel, & Murray, 2008; Laugeson et al., 2008

Identifying a Social Coach

A consistent, trusted person who is socially savvy to help with maintenance & generalization of skills

Important tips for social coaches:

- Use specific questions, avoid general questions
 - ✦ “What are your common interests?”
 - ✦ “What could be the problem with...?”
- Be a helpful guide
 - ✦ “How could you do that next time?”
 - ✦ Encourage small efforts & incremental improvement
 - ✦ Avoid overtly negative corrections and being too directive
- Provide plenty of opportunities
 - ✦ Identify how and when to practice skills
 - Once a week/month?
 - ✦ Research and get involved in activities based on one’s interests

Ecologically Valid Skills for Dating & Relationships

Story

Ok, I just have to be real... I'm a bit of a shut-in. Don't get me wrong, I like going out for drinks and having fun but I find more peace and have more fun just kicking back.

I love the beach, watching football, movies, writing music and poetry, spontaneous trips, and learning about all the things I thought I knew but now realize I had no idea about.

It's a crazy world, let's be crazy together. ;)

1. TAKING A SUCCESSFUL PROFILE PICTURE
2. FIND 2-3 NICHE DATING SITES BASED ON YOUR INTERESTS
3. CREATE YOUR OPENING MESSAGE
4. GET FEEDBACK FROM YOUR PRACTICE PARTNER/SOCIAL COACH

Story

Ok, I'm not sure what to say but here are some fun facts for you:

1. My dad was a military man and I couldn't be prouder to be his daughter.
2. I plan to open my own business soon.
3. Once I ate a whole watermelon by myself because of a friend's dare.
4. My favorite beer is whatever IPA is on tap.
5. I'm a cat person. They're just so independent and furry.
6. I really don't have a type. As long as you have something interesting to say, I want to hear it.

How to Handle Sexual Pressure

- Identify your boundaries and limits
 - What are you ok with and not ok with?
 - ✦ Last minute get-togethers, late night texting, sleep-overs without exclusivity, etc.
- If/when these are challenged AND you want to maintain the relationship, follow these steps:
 - Keep your cool
 - Tell them what you DON'T want to do
 - Give a cover story
 - Use "I" statements to say how you feel
 - Change the subject
 - If you're ready to go, give a cover story and leave
 - Remember, dating is a choice

Do not follow these steps if the sexual pressure becomes physical or persistent in nature.

Handling Sexual Pressure Practice & Feedback

- 1. IDENTIFY ONE OF YOUR BOUNDARIES IN DATING OR RELATIONSHIPS
- 2. PRACTICE THE STEPS FOR HANDLING THIS IF/WHEN SOMEONE PRESSURES YOU
- 3. GET FEEDBACK FROM YOUR PRACTICE PARTNER/SOCIAL COACH

Showing Understanding (Expressing Empathy)

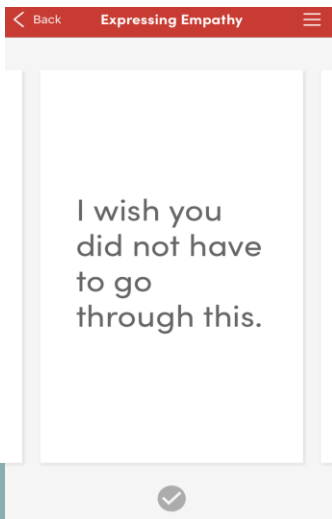

- Different levels of intimacy
- Steps for showing understanding by focusing on the other person's needs, wants, desires and dreams
 1. Listen with care and intention
 - ✦ Listen for the feelings and desires about what the person shares
 2. Repeat what the person mentioned about their feelings, desires or dreams when they share
 3. Ask follow-up questions
 4. Discuss how the persons' thoughts, feelings, desires or dreams will influence your relationship and the way you respond to them
