Who we are

JéVaughn Jones

Instructional Designer

My name is JeVaughn I have a passion for learning. I jokingly refer to myself as a recovering academic that has fallen off the bandwagon a few times. I currently hold a Master of Science degree in Education, Media Design and Technology, Master of Science in Media Management and most currently a doctoral student. I love working in a creative space, presenting, collaborating, and delivering content through various instructional design methodologies. As an instructional designer at Lynn University, I have had the opportunity to enhance my talent through iPad powered learning and the multiple facets of technology that we use to be innovators in the industry.

On a personal note, I love being in the kitchen baking vegan goodies in my spare time.

Ellen Ramsey

Associate Professor

Ellen Bruno Ramsey began teaching on campus for Lynn University, as an adjunct instructor, in 1994 for the College of Business and Management, after receiving her Master's Degree (with a concentration in International Business). She went on to receive her Ph.D. in Corporate Leadership in 2001. Dr. Ramsey was one of the first professors to develop online course curriculum in business (back in 2003) and became part of the full-time faculty in 2015. She has since been promoted to Associate Professor and continues to be involved on campus with various committees; including holding the position of secretary for Lynn University's Academic Council for the 2020-2022 two-year academic term.
