It is to those people who have devoted their lives to education that we, the Impressions Staff of 1971-72 dedicate this yearbook.
Hiding behind a mask of dormancy lies an awakening spirit that comes with a new dawn.

And others which have long since been forgotten.
We've come a long way in search of so many different things. Along the way we've shared the joys, the sorrows; And now, it's time to say good-bye.

Though the miles may separate us, And we shall each go our different ways; Though time flows on in its relentless pursuit to dim our most cherished memories, We shall always remember that — This was the year that was.
