SOUTHERN ASSOCIATION TEAM ON CAMPUS THIS WEEK

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Welcome to Marymount
Dr. Donald E. Ross President of Marymount, would like to say hello to the student body. Dr. Ross has watched the student enrollment grow from 385 in 1971 to 422 this year. This year's freshman class consists of 296 students, the largest freshman class.

Dr. Ross felt that this year is one of enthusiasm on the part of both students and teachers. Looking back, Dr. Ross remembers the radicals of the 60's and believes that the 70's is a time of harmony on the college level.

Another aspect of college life about which Dr. Ross is happy is the cooperation between students and Marymount personnel. An example given by the President is the building of the Rathskeller by both students and Marymount maintenance personnel.

Looking into the future, the Rathskeller by both students and Marymount maintenance personnel.

On September 25, an Evaluation Committee from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools arrived at Marymount. The team, which visited campus from September 25 through September 29, came to evaluate Marymount's two year programs. The members of the team were: Dr. Thomas V. Whitaker (Chairman), President of Columbus College, Georgia; Dr. Bruce Whitaker, President, Chowan College, North Carolina; Miss Nina Helms, Dean of Women, Wingate College, North Carolina; Mrs. Mary G. Jones, Head Librarian, Young Harris College, Georgia; Mr. Ronny E. Wilson, Business Manager, Western Piedmont Community College, North Carolina; Dr. Mary Marciniowski, Division Chairman, Science and Mathematics, Alexander City State Junior College, Alabama, and Dr. Barry L. Mettinger, Associate Executive Secretary, Commission on Colleges, Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

While here, the visiting team examined various aspects of college life and talked to students, faculty and administrators. On behalf of Marymount, we hope they enjoyed their visit.

WHAT IT IS AT FAU

There are no speakers scheduled thus far but there will be six movies presented. Woodstock will play in the theatre on September 28, at six thirty and ten p.m., and on October 4, at seven o'clock and ten p.m., the theatre will screen On Any Sunday. Dr. Whitaker will be shown in the theatre on October 12, at 6:30 and 10:00 p.m. on October 18, at 7:00 and 10:00 p.m., The Cat on November Second at 7:00 and 10:00 p.m., The Freckl Con-vention on November 18 at 7:00 and 10:00 p.m. Student admission is 25 cents.

There are occasional concerts at P.A.U., and we will keep you abreast of these. Also, for any interested parties, Marymount students can use the Florida Atlantic Library. Ask our librarian for details.

SOME VIEWS FROM THE DIRECTOR OF HOUSING

Ed Freer, our new Director of Residence Life, is no stranger to college life or to the problems associated with dormitory living. Ed graduated from Gannon College in Erie, Pennsylvania, with a B.A. in Political Science and received his M.A. from the University of Delaware, but the degree is still pending.

While at the University of Delaware, Mr. Freer served on the Faculty Advisory Committee on Student Life, was a member of the University Counseling Center and was a contributing author of a report to the president of the university on policies affecting women.

Being charged with the care of the fifteen-building

Pencader Complex at the University of Delaware, Ed was guided by "one of the most progressive residence hall policies in the country." There was a coed dorm with men and women living on every floor and 24-hour visitation. This is in sharp contrast to the stricter rules that he must enforce in his new position here at Marymount. Ed also noted that he feels that the attitude of the students here is one of less pride in the dormitories but he noted that this could be due, in part, to the school not properly maintaining the dorms.

On the positive side, Ed feels that the smaller enrollment is more helpful in the solving of small personal problems which would possibly go unnoticed at a school with a larger student body. Some problem areas

Florida Atlantic University, our good neighbor to the east, has announced its activity schedule through mid- November. F.A.U. activities are open to Marymount students and, when a fee is requested, we merely pay student rates with the presentation of a Marymount I.D. card.

Freet: "With freedom goes responsibility."

Ed feels that there is a need for disciplinary measures. Mr. Freer's future plans will be made step by step. Some improvements he hopes to initiate will be more comfortable furniture in the lounges with the hope of having courses and social functions offered within the dormitories. Maintenance will be provided within 24 hours. It is Mr. Freer's hope that as the dorms become more self-regulating some of the present rules could be relaxed. Most important in Ed's philosophy is the principle that "with freedom goes responsibility."
EDITORIALS

A college is an institution of higher learning composed of men and women grouped together for one purpose. Students in a college wish to learn and are very serious about gaining an education. They are men and women in search of a future goal. This is why a mandatory attendance rule is not only out of place but is a violation of rights. There is no reason to treat college students as grade school or high school students. The college's main purpose is to provide an opportunity to learn, not students attend class but what is the serious student and it is a waste of time for all concerned.

Marymount College must realize that it deals with men and women who are responsible human beings. They are serious and they have goals to attain. The college should help, not hinder, their attempts.

What Goes On?

Are you planning to graduate in May? If so, better check with your advisor because you may be in for a shock. Recently Joe Henckler, a senior, went over his credits with his advisor and discovered he would need between twenty-one to twenty-four hours for the whole ’73-'74 year. Add the fact that there are many new teachers acting as advisors and it equals quite a mit-ou. As a final warning, find out what extra credits you need and triple check with your advisor.

See you at graduation — maybe.

Dear Editor,

I would like to express my concern for the incoming students of this college. I realize it is not easy to cope with an environment like the one by which you are surrounded.

When one leaves home and enters this college he will be tempted to enter the ‘social phantasmagoric’ world of Marymount. It can be an undisciplined world of freedom that will lead to escape from reality and responsibility.

You could say, they seek a form of Utopia. To some it’s a positive one, and to others it’s negative. Those who choose the negative will escape from responsibility from themselves and others. The prognosis is an apathetic, self-centered individual. Those who choose to seek the positive Utopia have to face the pitfalls and responsibilities of life. If it is not an easy road, but from this road, a mature well-rounded person will walk in tranquility.

Dear Editor,

Has anyone bothered to ask themselves why the tuition has gone up this year at Marymount?

What about the telephones? One working phone in both Patton and Waxed is appalling. It is impossible to either make or receive a phone call and it seems to be unnecessary to add a private phone because of Marymount’s lack of planning. Another legitimate concern is the fact that the food this year is disgusting.

We have learned from a reliable source that Mr. C. is spending $9 a day per student. We cannot understand exactly where this $9 per student is going. However, we do not know exactly who to blame for this situation. For the money we are spending to eat in the cafeteria and the small number of students enrolled here, there is no excuse for the poor quality of food.

It is also rather amazing that something so seemingly important to the school as the cafeteria, the number of students enrolled here, there is no excuse for the poor quality of food.

Ed’s Note: We have quoted $9 a day as being $270 per month for food student. This $9 a figure is far too high to be accurate, being in excess of what we now pay for room and board.
Ron Falzone, a sophomore at Marymount, has written a series of one-act comedies which hold great promise.

The plays will be presented at Marymount this fall and may be produced for NET television in Rochester, New York, in January.

"The plays are: Dynamic Duo, about two men who believe that they are superheros and meet in an apartment to decide the fate of the world; The Hit Man, about a man who decides to have his wife killed because she loves too much; and Suicide Sacle, which involves a man and a woman in love trying to leave the action of all three plays takes place in a rundown 2nd Street brownstone.

I don't mean to demean the Rice-Weber opera. I mean that the show is heard in the dimension it is meant to be heard in, and that is when it is in rehearsal. In the past few years, I have become a convert to the idea that there are but somewhere back amid my medulla cerebrum because this album is vague.

Jesus Christ Superstar is meant to be heard in stereo. It is out of its dimension. There are enough, the worst ones to whom it was hysterical.

Example: Freak (female, I would have known her too) in what it becomes, in a sense, a giant anachronism in the whole movie falls flat.

Each one is a step further in the strong direction.

I mean, like wow, everyone really got into it."

This is a very relatable record. There are enough fresh juices and fruits just pushing from the very bowels of this plasticoid disc to suffice even the most time-starved connoisseur. Surely there is a remarkable tender sirloin charred to its potential with out ever tasting burnt or overdone. Across side two, are sprinkled lush tropic fruits and a space enough to make Mr. C. jive with lalapathy. Some down to earth country stew with just enough hard rock to royally screw up your digestive tract. Ex-James Gang man Walsh has provided a meal really worth growing on.

Dr. Mazarella and his assistant Traffic

Dr. Mazarella has been appointed to the position of Vice President at Marymount College. As of now, the only upper division at Marymount is the Nursing College. Dr. Mazarella is constantly thinking and planning for the possibilities of Marymount becoming a four year college. This calls for much planning for a good staff and meaningful course selection.

Dr. Mazarella is also reaching out to educate this community by developing a continuing education program for adults. He believes that, in return, we may receive their help. Community participation is important so that the business and educational communities are presented with the opportunity to exchange ideas for the achievement of mutual understanding. The Raton Board of Com- munities is in the process of meeting with business and students to plan for the future.

Dr. Mazarella is attempting to open new doors for students. In the immediate future, the academic studies will be changed in order to be of greater interest to the students.

A capable and dedicated man, Dr. Mazarella will do his best to live up to the challenges of his position.

If you don’t have him in class, you probably won’t see too much of him unless he is running from Trinity to the auditorium to library and back again. His name is William Smith and he is one of the busiest men on campus. The easygoing but highly professional Mr. Smith is the new head of the Marymount Theater Department.

As soon as you enter his Trinity Hall office, you become acutely aware of his ability to handle any number of projects at one time. His desk is strewn with dozens of yellow pads, each one filled with the many notes he takes during the day. Within any given five minute period, he may arrange to do a play, schedule an independent study for several students and make the final decision on what assignment will be for any one of the many courses he teaches.

With his loosened collar button unfastened, he swiftly and thoughtfully moves about. When you enter his office, he is running from Trinity to the auditorium to the library and back again. His name is William Smith. If you don’t have him in class, you probably won’t see too much of him unless he is running from Trinity to the auditorium to library and back again.

His first experience with the theatre was during his junior year at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Massachusetts, but left after his sophomore year because he was discontented with the school. He finished out the next three years at St. Peter’s College in Jersey City, New Jersey, then continued his studies at the Catholic University of Washington, D.C., where he gained his M.F.A. in speech and drama in 1979.

When you enter the discussion to his past accomplishments, you notice a glint of pride in his eyes. Among his proudest accomplishments are his next project. He acted until his senior year of college when he played John Proctor in Arthur Miller’s “The Crucible.” From then on, he appeared in the leading roles of many plays, performing in 36 states altogether. (A film, entitled “A Political Cartoon,” in which he has the lead, will premiere on NBC tonight. Among his proudest accomplishments are the productions of Ab Wilder with The English Players of the White House during the Johnson administration.

Sit down, please,” says in his deep, warm voice, a voice while he says, “I discovered that he started his highest education at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Massachusetts, but left after his sophomore year because he was discontented with the school. Chris Hovorka executes a drop shot as Billie Abney looks on.

That’ll teach you, Tom.

Two of our co-editors, Jim Chambers and Phil Beninato, seek higher ground.

May be the sleeper of the year. It seems strange to begin with a live album, but Badger has used the energy of a live performance effectively in making this one of the best albums of the year. It drives on with hard hitting precision and such memorable continuity that it makes one proud to use ears.

Houses of the Holy

Led Zeppelin

Zeppelin’s newest album seems to be one of their most realistic albums, it is a happy, easy-going album with most of their songs relating to the beauty of nature and happy “Dancing Days” in the sunshine and rain.

Daryl E. Smith

Houses of the Holy (as most of Zeppelin’s music) is very moving. Although it will make you get up and boogie, it has a few enjoyable, mellow moments.

In their previous album, Led Zeppelin IV, Zeppelin seemed as if they always wanted to go to a new place and find new things. However, in this album, I think they have learned to appreciate what they have and the beauty of life and love.

Marymount's new athletic director this year is Ed Freel, who has already coached many practices consisting of two hours drilling and at least one meeting of exer:sices with the purpose of increasing stamina and quickness.

With the exception of one girl, the team will be composed of all freshmen. Chas Havorka, the returning varsity player, has a solid hitting power from Charleston, West Virginia. Chas has competed in state and national tournaments last year for the experience in college tennis.

Another tiger on Marymount's victorious team is Mary Crape, a steady backcourt player from Wheeling, West Virginia. Mary has been undefeated in her home town for over five years. Coming all the way from Indiana, Indiana, to get away from the snow in Carrie Meyer. Carrie tries to play a hard hitting game and volley ball but since her service is such a buff ball, she finds it hard to do. Her biggest ambition is to improve her strokes and serve for her opponents to be out of shape. Her service is such a puff and it will be decided by her opponents to return her service.
