A Subtropical Campus

The Classroom Building is where the majority of classes are held.

The Lynn Building houses the Cafeteria, Auditorium, Bookstore and Collegetown.
CBR is . . .

a lush subtropical campus set on South Florida's Gold Coast. The generous palms and reflecting ponds add to the charm of the campus, (pictured directly to the left). The Classroom Building exemplifies the airy feel of the architecture on campus. Latticework at the windows and light pastel colors accent all the buildings here.

Below are pictured just a few of the academics going on behind those latticed windows. Not pictured are the three dormitories, Patton, Trinity and Wixted, and the Library Building, which houses the Registrar, the Business Offices, Mailroom, Computer Labs, and Library.
The Classroom Building
And Courtyard

The open hallways and courtyard allow students and faculty to enjoy the wonderful South Florida climate while going to and from classes. The courtyard is also an especially popular spot for meeting and greeting between classes or for that last minute smoke or glance through the book before the test.
Class On The Beach

Sandcasting

Students in the Pre-Elementary Education Program, take advantage of the natural resources of South Florida, while learning the fine art of Sandcasting. Showing off their finished products are, (above, from left to right) Kim DeMatteo, Alane Bech, Kathy Ahasie, Ivonne Barrenehehe, and Janine Pelletiere (front).

— And mix it well

Kathy searches for just the right ingredients.
Looks like Laurie Marshall just found buried treasure!

Laurie, Kim and Ivonne mixing, pouring, and making a mess, BUT the messier the better!

She sells seashells down by the seashore!
"Aruba, Jamaica, ooh, I want to take ya to Bermuda, Bahama, come on pretty mama, Key Largo, Montigo, Baby, why don't we go, down to KOKOMO!?"

Waiting Outside
And Waiting Inside.

Yes, Bob, you’re next!

There were members of the college community on hand to offer advice.

And then, there was the ever-popular Motherly advice!
Working out that ever-illusory "perfect" schedule, wasn't easy. Getting the classes you need (and a few you want) at the times you want, can be frustrating. But we think we've got it. Now, let's see if it flies!

Hallelujah! We're In!
Welcome To The First Dance Of The Year!

Alright, girls and boys, let’s mix it up.

Taking a break for a cool drink and some conversation.
The College of Boca Raton's version of the new and improved "Dating Game", amused students, faculty and staff, during the first weekend of the semester. Hosted by Shada Overton, student activities director, the evening was full of humor and romance. Upperclassmen (and women) met the freshmen (and women). Some were even lucky enough to win an all-expense paid date; their very own Knight on the Town!
Before we knew it, October was gone!

Who's doing the confessing?

Will the real Devil, please, stand up?
The Holiday Gala

Saturday, Dec. 10, was just that — a Gala! CBR's Knights of the Round Table (the KOR) organized, decorated, sold tickets and made certain that the event was a success. Beginning with a regal reception, the evening progressed to a formal dinner, after which, all those attending were given the opportunity to dance the night away. A Limo ride back to campus was the perfect ending to a perfect evening.
Students weren't the only ones showing a bit of style and class.

The eighties saw a return to the group dancing (girls and guys) of the sockhop days. Only the names and dress have changed.
Midnight Breakfast During Finals Week.

CBR's faculty, staff and administration put away their papers and books and rolled up their sleeves, so that the students could refuel to hit the books. The night before finals began (or more exactly the morning before) the cafeteria was buzzing, the faculty was cookin' and the students were eating. There was plenty of food and fun on both sides of the steam tables that night.

“What's your secret for French toast, Doug?”

“He'll never tell and I'm stuck on egg detail!”
Santa's Elves are ready to study now!

And where were Santa's Elves when clean-up time came?

But are we?
The Semester Came And Went With A Big Bang!
The transformation of the basically unfinished first floor of One Boca Place was inspirational. Concrete pillars were turned to silver and the bare rafters became a starry sky. The Knights of the Round Table put in a lot of hard work, but reaping the rewards was worth it!
At Last . . .

the style to which we'd like to become accustomed to!

Looking Back On Eighty-eight

And Looking Forward to Eighty-nine!
Eighty-nine Begins
The college experience in Florida just wouldn't be complete without an introduction to that unique 'Magic Kingdom', Walt Disney World. Student Activities sponsored a weekend trip for 20+ students. A great time was had by all!
Old Southern Romance.

It Begins!

That's the kind of house I want. I think I see Mickey down there!

Parent's Weekend

March 3, 4, And 5, 1989

Highlights!

Honors Convocation And Reception
Parent Breakfast
Academic and Student Life Forums
President's Reception
Art Exhibit
Fashion Show
Sunday Continental Breakfast
The Academic Forum was held on Saturday morning in the CBR Library, as well as, an open forum for Student Life in the afternoon. Both these events gave parents an opportunity to have their questions answered, whether they dealt with academic programs at CBR or the quality of life that we provide our students.
The President's Reception, Saturday night, was something not to be missed!

Parents, Faculty, Staff and Administration mixed and mingled with the help of pleasant music and fine food and drink.
CBR honored its own at the Honors Convocation that began the weekend's events. Among those being recognized were Charles Gaillard, left, and Andrea Lampen, below.
The students involved in CBR’s Fashion Marketing Program added a chic note to the evening, following the President’s Reception, Saturday, March 4. With the help of local merchants, the Fashion Marketing students put on a show that captivated the audience. Many students, from various areas of study, took part. They modeled the clothes and accessories to be popular in the coming season. For a moment the veranda of the Lynn Building shone like a star; thanks to those who worked so hard on the Student Fashion Show.

What Parents Don’t Usually See . . .
But They Always Get The Bill!

I don’t think she’s phoning home.

Hi, Mom, send money quick!!

Oh, sorry, you’re paying for this one.

Do the guys ever use the phone?
Apparently, The Guys do use the phone!

Durone: "Are you sure I need an overseas operator? The Bahamas are sooooo close."

Mark R.: "Did I just get dumped?"

John Stromski: "So, is that the way you feel about me?"

"Hey, that Gilligan cracks me up every time I see it."
But, They're Not On The Phone All The Time.

Sometimes They Study.

But What Do They Study?

Or they may choose to study Hospitality Accounting II.

Or Biology? Nah.
You didn't leave me any room?!

Jen, what the heck is that?

A Personalized Dorm
Just, when you thought it was safe to live in Trinity Hall!!!
We Stepped Up To The Door . . .

We returned to our friends and our colleagues, our desks and our books.

After weathering mid-term exams, Spring Break '89, (March 17-27), came and went like a dream.

Some of us didn't get a break. We Salute You!

And we returned to our jobs — the same old grind!

But we faced it all with a winning smile. We once again stepped up to the door — the door to a better life, the door to Education.
The Door To Knowledge
Midnight Breakfast II
(The Sequel)
During Finals Week

Once again CBR's faculty, staff and administration pitched in to feed the students the night before finals began. Unlike most sequels, the second Midnight Breakfast was a resounding success. More students showed up and everything ran a lot smoother, due largely to the absence of French toast.

Supervising?

Even Dr. Ross rolled up his sleeves (literally).

Dr. U., "Have Apron Will Travel."

"Let's get busy."
SMILES! SMILES!

With all these bright smiling faces, you'd never know that finals start tomorrow. I guess the food was just good!
CBR's Graduate Student Organization

The Master Of Professional Studies Degrees
In Health And Human Services
(Eldercare Administration)

This comprehensive program offers academic preparation for professional careers in the administration of programs, services and facilities across the spectrum of health care for the elderly. Our graduates are successfully employed in retirement communities, home health, adult day care, senior centers, adult congregate living facilities and long-term care centers.

Dr. Helena Toner
Coordinator for Health and Human Services and Graduate Student Organization Sponsor

Russell Porter
President of the Graduate Student Organization
The Department of Health and Human Services is pleased to announce the formation of the Graduate Student Organization. The mission of the organization is to support and enhance the professional growth of graduate students during their academic studies at the College of Boca Raton. The Graduate Student Organization will network students with state and national professional organizations. They will also provide greater visibility for our graduating students, to local facilities and organizations serving the older adult population. This will be an important link and service to our community.

Last Fall, the year began on a positive note, 17 attending the first yearbook meeting. Somewhere along the way, 15 of those students fell by the wayside, leaving us with the loyal and the true ... Megan and Dana. Every Tuesday, faithfully, for the past two semesters Megan, Dana and I have worked diligently making the yearbook a success.

THANKS go to — Gina, Christina, Charlie, Mel, Lilly, Marc, Mr. Curran, Shada Overton, Isabelle, and all the other faculty, staff and students who have supported our efforts. Above all, I would like to personally thank Megan and Dana. THANKS SO MUCH, GIRLS! — Denise Hurd

Knights’ Coelho
Wins National Golf Title

That was the headline in a recent Palm Beach Post article giving tribute to the College of Boca Raton's Golf Team Captain, Michele Coelho, pictured to the right. The following is an excerpt of some of that article.

Sophomore Michele Coelho of the College of Boca Raton won the NAIA individual golf championship Wednesday at Gates Four Country Club.

Coelho shot a three-day total of 244 and will be one of the first five women named to the NAIA golf All-America Team.

"This is the first exposure we've had in the NAIA women's golf," Knight's coach Dick Thomas said.

Coelho led the tournament from the first day, when she shot an 81 on the par — 72 course, she entered the third round of the tournament with a 1-stroke lead.

"I just went out on the last few holes and did my best," Coelho said, "It was more mental than anything else. I guess I wanted it a little more than she did (the girl who came in second)."
