Summer Time

HOW TO SPEND YOUR SUMMER VACATION

Academic Dean

After a semester of hitting the books and a week of final examinations, most students are looking forward to summer vacation as just that—a vacation. If, however, you can look a little further ahead, you can utilize your summer holidays so that, in September, you have more to show for vacation than just a tan.

Summer can be a time to get ahead with your long-range plans, and you can best use the time in two ways—through study or work. Either way can be productive without being pressured, fun as well as profitable.

The most obvious activity for summer is the one you’ve been participating in all year—school. “School” doesn’t mean you must sign up for all your academic work; rather, summer is the perfect time to take one course, the one you dropped last semester, the one you’ve been putting off because you dreaded it, the one you wanted to take but couldn’t fit into your schedule. The College has a comprehensive list of options for you; check it out.

Many of you are thinking about a job, but it makes sense not to think about just any job. Have you thought about looking for work in your career area? Even if the pay isn’t as good as that job you’ve had every summer for the past three years, think about how nice “career-related experience” could look on a resume when you graduate. It takes a little more imagination and initiative to locate that special job in hospitality, or business, or communications, but the experience is well worth it. How about a summer internship program at a nearby business? Remember, it doesn’t hurt to ask potential employers; don’t just assume there’s nothing available for you.

Family and friends have valuable contacts; use them. Ask your faculty advisor for suggestions.

You can finish the summer with the September “blahs,” having done the same old things once again. Or you can feel good about yourself, because you got that hard course out of the way, or you took on a new job that was really scary at first and you did well in it. You decide. And—have a good summer!

Zoo Trip

By Gregg McBride

Lions, and Tigers, and Bears; oh my! CBR’s Ecology class took a field trip to the Miami Metro Zoo, on April 23, 1983. Mr. Brad Gammon, the class’s instructor, organized this “wild” event for his students. They met at 9:30 a.m. at the Academic Parking Lot at CBR, and left for Miami.

After arriving at the zoo, the class divided up into smaller parties and entered the Metro Zoo. The first attraction were two Bengal Tigers. They, and the other animals, are not kept in cages. Instead, they are surrounded by a not-deep pit, between them and the tourists. When first taken into captivity, a large fence is put up around them, so that they get used to their area and know not to go beyond it. The absence of cages made this a very pleasant zoo, and enabled the students to see all of the animals in a set up “natural” habitat.

On the side of each area, is a sign listing what the animal is, and describing it, and giving a brief history of the species. Then there are pictures below it, depicting what the animal eats; what it’s natural habitat is; and at what period of the day it is active; and last but not least, whether it is endangered or not.

Of the many interesting animals seen, some of the highlights of the trip were: Japanese crocodiles, where there was a baby, the first one to be born in captivity anywhere in the world. There were Orangutans, many breeds of deer, camels, lions, zebras, giraffes; and some students even took a ride on an elephant.

The trip ended at 1:30, as the students all met in the Metro Zoo Parking Lot, and then headed back for Boca Raton. The students all seem to enjoy themselves, and they say that they appreciate their teacher, Mr. Gammon, for organizing such an interesting and enjoyable event.
Dear Sabrina...

Dear Sabrina:
I love my boyfriend very much, but he never wants to go out. We never have any fun doing the things that other couples my age are enjoying. I know he loves me, but I am feeling so lonely. Any suggestions?

Bored Before Marriage

Nancy from Boca Raton

Dear Nancy:
You are too young to settle for second best. My advice to you is to tell your boyfriend exactly how you feel. If he does not improve upon his "lax" behavior, I would avoid this boy. After all, if he really loves you, he will be willing to change and to start treating you like a lady. If not, it will be your mistake.

Sabrina

Dear Sabrina:
I live in a campus dormitory. The problem is my roommate. She bothers me so much. I never have any privacy with her around, and I can never find any of my clothes that she borrows. Can you tell me a tactful way in which to tell her to "go letst?"

"Just Because"
By Stella Greenberg

Just because I'm young enough, I want to soar like an eagle, I want to fly high and never come down.

Just because I feel good, I want to be rowdy and shout to the world the things I'd never say when I am sober.

Just because I'm in love with you, I write to you almost every day,
I want to show you that I care. 1000 miles away, I feel your heart, beating softly against mine.

Just because I am me, I'll sing to the crowd, or play with new words until they rhyme.

Just because I'm honest, I'll tell what I feel, I'll give my thoughts, even when I'm wrong.

Just because I am young enough, I live life like I'm going to die, there will be no tomorrow, just a final today.

For Melissa:

For Melissa, the tree ove long since bored her souls and cry for a child's absence.

For Melissa, the wind blows wildly now, as taming forces gently bring peace over her heart and her mind.

For Melissa:
There is no more pain, only smiles and the promise of happiness without us.

For Melissa, I cry a tear of life.

Catching Rays...

The PULSE welcomes all photography and writing contributions from the student body, faculty, and staff of CRH. The PULSE Office is located at Room 116-88, Wirtz Hall.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF: Gregg McBrine
WRITING CONTRIBUTORS: Dawnell Clarke, Doreen Denigris, Carol Ann Collins, Peter Mintz, Stella Greenberg, Mariella Nivalac, Amy Feller, John Securo, Susan Rogers, Stacy Spiwak, Yolanda Ruiz, Barbara Brivate, Bob Kinder, Mona Wargo, Claudia Bodevich, Rosana Vescio B. Tariq Amin, Karen Rindo, Tommy Lipnick

PHOTOGRAPHY CONTRIBUTORS: Tom Drybrough, Karen Bernard, Gregg McBrine, Stacy Spiwak, Sandra Caculita

LAYOUT STAFF: Gregg McBrine

ARTWORK... Gregg McBrine, FACULTY WRITER... Mrs. Ruth Bloche

FACULTY PHOTOGRAPHER... Mr. Bob Curran

© College of Boca Raton — May 1983

Poetic License

BY Thomas Drybrough

Days that I am down, All I have to do, is look and find you. Because you are my bright eyes. Who tells me no lies: Who gives me self esteem, so that I can go off and dream.

"Hundred In One" By Stella Greenberg

You make me feel like a birthday present after it's been unwrapped, a delicate portrait, a sunrise, a fresh flower blooming again in the Springtime. All the original colors &..college

You I a restaurant You I a daybreak on the beach, lots of tea, teak-n-roll &..college

"So To A Believer" By Stella Greenberg

Yield a gentle touch, bring sunlight to the roses, give us all your love.

"To S.C." By Thomas Drybrough

This is where the cool winds blow against the hot air, the sea breeze drills through the turf that never ends, but my heart is always with you.

This is where they sky burns colorful hues, against a red, hot sun. But I'm pulled into the thoughts I hold of you and me, together.

Water rides in and out with a wave and a smile, foamy beauty of the tide launches a cascade of beauty.

I won't sail to nil, clear, blue skies, without you.

GOD

By Thomas Drybrough

God is my father. He is my disciplinarian. He is my love. He is my joy. He is my future. He is my fate.

By Bob Kinder

Remember the laughter,
And not the fears. Remember the smiles
And not the tears.

Remember the kindness
And not the hate Remember the green arms
And forget about being the bait.

Remember the good times,
And not the bad Remember who you are
And don't be sad. Remember the Future
And don't forget the dreams Remember yourself
And forget what seems. Remember your Name,
And forget your reflection Remember yourself
And start the connection.

THE SEARCH

By Tariq Amin

Life is like an actor's closet Be any character you want Before me lies a mirror, My reflection it is alive. "Who am I?" I ask myself. Unsure of my answer I turn around.

My image as a clown "Me?" I say aloud, "That's not my role!"

Figures flash by me like shuffling cards All personalties of the actor's closet I sifted all the faces But I was nowhere.

Editor-in-Chief: Gregg McBrine
It was definitely an experience! That's what the canoe castaways have to say about the canoe trip that was held on the weekend of April 9th-10th along Peace River near Arcadia, Florida. After the nail polish was dried, and the waterproof mascara was applied, the girls were ready.

Securely wrapped in what was supposed to be a waterproof bag, were jeans, a couple of shirts, some blankets and pillows, all of which would be soaked and useless within 12 hours.

At 6:30 a.m., the students gathered at the pick-up point already half asleep. As we approached, everyone grabbed his or her essentials suitable for a thunder storm. The vans and we were on our way. Any canoeing, the water was held on the weekend.

If you were an inexperienced canoeist, the wind would be a part of the job. If you were an inexperienced canoeist, you sat in the front and chose a strong, handsome partner. After canoeing for an hour or so, and right after Herb finished his swim, it happened! Or rather, it appeared! The canoers in front threw on their emergency brakes and froze in fright! There, along the river bank, within 12 yards of our canoes and coming straight towards us, was a huge real live alligator!

At 5:00 the crew had pitched their tents and were ready for dinner. One can build up quite an appetite, especially suitable for a thunder storm.

After 20 minutes had passed, everyone grabbed their cans of Coors, Budweiser, Chablis, and one that didn't taste too bad, was definitely an huge experience.

At 7:00 we were awakened in the cry of "Time for Canoe!" and immediately, the crew swarmed outside their tents. We put on our designated "plastic garbage bags" jackets and commenced running through rain for an emergency rescue. At 10:30 the sun was shining and our canoes went back to the rental dealer. ~Doreen DeNigris

Many people must wonder what will become of the Graduating Class of 1983 from the College of Boca Raton. Well, Relax! The PULSE has looked into the crystal ball, and knows what will become of some certain seniors within the next 30 years, in jest, of course. So read on, and find out just what will become of these infamous C.B.R. SENIORS:

PETER MINTZ — will be leading a terrorist revolution in Cuba.

JOHN SECROY — will be playing Bjorn Borg in the 1992 Olympics.

DOREEN DEN GRIIS — will be Brook Shield's personal hair stylist.

NICK EDWARDS — will be in jail for Watergate D.

JAME GARNER — will still be auditioning for the Burt Reynolds Dinner Theatre.

AL DIBLASIO — will be a bit-man for the Mafia.

STEVE SCHIEF — will still be wearing the same Polo Shirt.

MONICA LAVIN — will be a beach bum in California, working for Coca-Cola.

PAULA FIORE — will have taken Johnny Carson's place on the Tonight Show.

CATHY CARRROLL — will have five kids and shop at Grand Union.

DIANE MURPHY — "The one only that brought homework"

DONNA PAGANO — "Sacred her skateboard for a day!"

Many seniors have definite experiences planned for the future. For all those who participated in the memorable event, individual recognition and thanks are due:

OFFICERS:

Captain of Crew

Mr. Cox

Nancy Cox

Captain of Prospective Hysterical Events

Dr. & Mrs. Pickering

Grammarification of Conversation

Dr. James & Co.

Captain of Campfire Etiquettes

Mrs. Pierson

CREW:

Gals

"The Blondes having more fun"

CATHY CARRROLL

"The Poineering Partner"

DIANE MURPHY

"The One only that brought Homework"

DONNA PAGANO

"Sacred her skateboard for a day!"

It was an unforgettable adventure, and rumor has it that an instant replay is in the planning stage.

For all those who participated in this memorable event, individual recognition and thanks are due:

OFFICERS:

Captain of Crew

Mr. Cox

Nancy Cox

Captain of Prospective Hysterical Events

Dr. & Mrs. Pickering

Grammarification of Conversation

Dr. James & Co.

Captain of Campfire Etiquettes

Mrs. Pierson

CREW:

Gals

"The Blondes having more fun"

CATHY CARRROLL

"The Poineering Partner"

DIANE MURPHY

"The only one that brought homework"

DONNA PAGANO

"Sacred her skateboard for a day!"
FASHION NEWS TO CURE YOUR DRESSING BLUES

IN STYLE

GET SET...GO!

By Thomas Drybrush

Summer wear has taken an exciting turn for the Summer of 1983. So daring to experiment, and drape yourself in fashions that will make people take notice.

Ladies, your sleek good looks will be highlighted by the Fashion Forecast. Black Cat City and black dresswear enters your favorite Fashion Show. Black and white says it all, with demurely grey tones to the side. Try a loose white blouse, with a lacey neck. Round out the bottom with a pitch-black skirt, that is full and floaty.

Get your feet in action with spiked heels that will help your legs look heavenly. You couldn't ask for a better dress-up than that for your casual summer dates.

For more flash, look at the new single-piece dresses that have entered the Fashion Market. Solid black, with sharp flashes of bright whites make you too hot to trot. For the lazy afternoons, keep cool with Ralph Lauren's new line of Polo Sweatshirts and matching shorts. You are going to look good in the summer sun, ladies. Go for the action!

For men, let the ladies notice your flair as you capture their Stare. Plums and hazey blues are your summer colors. Light sweaters over matching polo shirts with plum pants will say a lot to that special lady in your life... or the lady you are bound to meet. For nights on the town, a knit tie spells flash and flair when worn with a loose fitting Oxford shirt. Shoes-wise, dressy and pointed is in — all the way. Stick to brights and white for foot wear. Wear socks that will match the sweater you have on.

Summer is upon us and the Fashion celebration is just beginning. Keep abreast of the latest styles and smiles and you're sure to make the Best-Dressed List, wherever you may be. Remember one thing — look your best and you'll be saying it with STYLE!
"Guys & Dolls"

By Gregg McBride

"Guys and Dolls" was presented on April 28, 29, and 30 by the College of Boca Raton's Theatre Department. All who attended seemed to enjoy the show which was full of comedy, music, and dancing.

Originally appearing on Broadway in 1959, "Guys and Dolls" was based on a story and characters by Damon Runyon. The music and lyrics were written by Frank Loesser, and the book was written by Jo Swering and Abe Burrows. Some memorable songs from the show are: "Guys and Dolls," "I'll Know," "Luck Be a Lady," and "Sit Down, You're Rocking the Boat."

Four CBR students held the lead roles. They were as follows:

SKY MASTERSON
Thomas Drybrough

SARAH BROWN
Kathi Jo DeMilla

NATHAN DETROIT
Gregg McBride

MISS ADELAIDE
Monica Lavin

Mr. Rex King directed and produced this production. Joy Meyers, CBR's Dance Instructor, choreographed the show; Pearl Slavin directed the singers; and the music director was Wendy Feldman, who also accompanied the "Knights of Tomorrow" in the CBR's 1983 Parents' Weekend Production.

Others contributing to the spectacular performance were:

"Guys and Dolls" was an enjoyable experience for all who participated in it and attended the performance.
Karen Bernard
"I'm Frienc18
832-6397
New York

1st Prize - Karen Bernard in Pulse photography contest.

Dean Wershoven
By Claudia Bodeung and Rosanna Venco B.

Dr. Wershoven, Academic Dean and teacher is one of the most deepest people at the College. She has been working here for 14 years, initially as an English instructor and more recently, Academic Dean. She loves this position because she can put into action some of the things that need to be done including positive changes for the institution. She is also in charge of student registration for the four year programs.

Dr. Wershoven thinks that the students are the best thing at the College. She, herself, attended college here when the College of Boca Raton was called Marymount College. She liked it very much, but she says that the only disadvantage was that she could only come for two years. She says that she would have loved to finish her career at the College. For this reason, she has been instrumental in helping to establish the four year programs. She reports that the new four year programs will be excellent. Juniors and seniors will be walking around campus causing the entire school to have a new atmosphere. She feels that this growth into a four year College will give younger students the opportunity to develop their potential.

A student may transfer into any of about 16 career programs from his/her current major. For example, fashion merchandising or commercial art majors may transfer to communications. Pre-education majors may go into business administration so they may learn how to run their own schools.

All two year programs can lead into four year programs. In some cases, two year programs will be harder because they will all be transferable.

If you are interested in going into your junior year at CBR, you don't have to reapply or fill out an application. Just see Dr. Wershoven and don't hesitate asking any questions.
Tennis, Anyone

TENNIS TEAM ENDS SEASON VICTORIOUSLY
By John Securo

Although the CBR Tennis Team had a semi-shaky season, the Men’s Team ended their season on a very positive note, when they played against the Florida Institute of Technology at Jensen Beach, on Tuesday, April 12, 1983.

The team won their match five to one. The Tennis Players are very proud of themselves, and the PULSE extends its congratulations!

SCORES
SINGLES:
Sherwin Shakhti 6-4; 6-4; WIN
Tripp Denton 6-4; 6-4; WIN
John Securo 6-4; 6-4; WIN
Herb Milgrim 6-4; 6-4; LOSS

DOUBLES:
Sherwin Shakhti .
Herb Milgrim 7-4; 6-4 WIN
Tripp Denton &
John Securo 6-1; 6-4; WIN

Communication Program
Communication Program Has Expanding
By Dawnell Clarke

The Communications Program has been expanded from a two-year program to a four-year program for the semester beginning in the Fall of 1983. The reason why the program is expanded is because Dean Wershoven believes that Communication has become a wide open field especially here in Florida. There has been filming of movies in Fort Lauderdale such as “Harry and Son” starring Paul Newman, “Smoyke and the Bandit” and a revision of “Where the Boys Are.” The Communications field is now involved in the motion picture business. Dean Wershoven feels that this is the perfect opportunity to start exposing the students here at the College of Boca Raton to the wide open field of Communications in the movies.

The college would be bringing in more teachers with experience in teaching the field and a coordinator. In the fall semester over thirty students will be involved in this program.

The degrees that will be offered to the student will be an Associate of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts and a Bachelor of Science. The school is not yet ready to offer a Masters Degree but this is a possibility in the future.

Students who have had a degree in Art and Commercial Art, Fine Arts and Theatre Arts may receive a Bachelor of Fine Arts in Communication if they choose to stay on here at the College of Boca Raton for two more years.

The Communications field has four main parts: Broadcasting, Graphics, (Art Section), Print Journalism, and Advertising (Public Media).

The school will be offering courses relating to each field in the fall semester. Although the school does not have the necessary equipment for the field of Broadcasting, they will be using the local radio and television station for the students. The school intends to get people who are professionally involved in Communication to come in and talk to the students. As the old saying goes, “it is not what you know, but who you know.” At the end, the students would be doing practical work such as studying and working in the field of Communication at the same time.

Dean Wershoven is very excited about the expansion of Communications to a four year program and she feels that it will be the most popular program on campus.

ADMISSIONS

“The New Admissions Office”
By Dawnell Clarke

The Admissions Office has set a new record! Applications have gone up thirty percent over last year.

Applications are the highest ever in the history of the college. The amount of requested information going out each day is approximately one hundred catalogs, viewbooks, and letters. That’s close to five hundred a week.

The Admissions staff consists of Dean Marilyn Ciccone, who has had nine years experience working at Rider’s University in New Jersey. Two Admissions Counselors, Marcia Shauler and Sue Bird; a support staff of three full-time workers and three work-study students.

Dean Ciccone is very involved with her job. One particular incident of recruiting students to come to the College of Boca Raton happened when she was in a restaurant talking to the waiter and waitresses and trying to get them to attend the college to further their education. Now that’s what I call recruiting!

Dean Ciccone and her Admissions Counselors have traveled to all parts of the United States and many foreign countries such as Venezuela, Equador, Colombia, Panama, the Virgin Islands and the Caribbean. The three have attended National College Fairs in the United States and will attend six more in the Spring of next year along with travelling to different foreign countries to recruit students.

Students in the two-year program are doing very well and there is a great possibility that these students will stay on for the four-year program of their choice. The two-year graduate students of the College of Boca Raton are seeking to continue their attendance at the college rather than transferring on to another four-year institution.

There is a feeling of excitement in the Admissions Office because people from all over the United States and different countries are coming here to see the campus. The staff gives at least five to ten tours a day to people who visit the campus, plus the responsibility of their many other duties.

Dean Ciccone reported that anywhere you go up “North”, they will tell you that they are overwhelmed that the College has changed from a junior college to a senior college. She is very enthusiastic about her work along with the other members of her staff in the Admissions Office.

The Dean is very optimistic about the future of the College of Boca Raton.

ECOLOGICAL ENJOYMENT
By Doreen DeNigria and Gregg McBride

Mr. Brad Gammon is the Ecology Teacher this year for CBR. His class is held four times a week, including lab.

“Brad” (as the students are permitted to call him) is a teacher and friend to many. He has taught at the Potomac School for two years. This year marks his first attempt at teaching college students all about scientific things.

The classes are lectured with overhead projector notes, which are nearly laid out for students to copy. Brad also makes a habit of copying important articles, and passes copies out to the students to enhance their learning experience. The students receive a lot of enjoyment from special events organized by Brad.

For example, in late February, Brad took his students to Loxahatchee Wildlife Refuge in West Delray Beach. It was quite a day, full of adventure. For some students from up North, it marked their first sighting of an alligator. The students walked through the wilderness and learned about the beauty of nature. That must sound a little corny, but only to those who did not experience this trip. This was a prime opportunity for the students to see what they were learning about. It made their text book a little more interesting than printed words.

The students in Brad’s ecology class all think that he deserves a pat on the back. And they can all be heard saying, “H.T. (Ecology Teacher), Don’t Go!”

Sunny Faces
A Memory...

By Stacy Spiwak

Attending a small college has many benefits. Each student will leave the College of Boca Raton with a handful of glorious memories. We will not forget the College of Boca Raton. We will remember the smiling faces, the sunny days, the joyful nights. There will be times when the memories will fill our heads, and dreams. We will all collect our faded photographs, our creased tickets that are now torn in half. They are all bits and pieces of our love that we have shared together here at the College of Boca Raton. One of the alms of education is to teach values. Here at the College of Boca Raton we have learned the values of life, friendship, and dreams. We will all leave with a dream to live up to the motto that tomorrow begins today.

Vice President, George Bush visited CBR on Sunday, May 8, 1983.

Photos by Karen Bernard.