Dr. Ross has been making such a decision. Greg Malfitano said, "I asked why Dr. Ross could not give an exact answer but stated that Dr. Ross would take a leave of absence. Until then he is here on campus on a part-time basis.

As it stands right now the ground work for the campaign is almost finished. As the campaign progresses, more information will become available to the students, faculty and public.

On behalf of the students at the College of Boca Raton, I would like to wish Dr. Ross the very best of luck.

GO FOR IT!!!

Dean Shada. Those two words seem to fit each other perfectly. At the young age of twenty-nine, Shada, Overton has been appointed to the position of Dean of Students.

Originally from Mountclair New Jersey, Shada has two brothers, 22 and 26. Her younger brother is a landscaping architect while her other brother is in recording management. Shada commented that the time when one of her brothers had a "discussion" with Al Lombardi. Shada first obtained her B.A. in Physical Education, specializing in Athletic training from Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee. She stayed in Tennessee and obtained her Masters in Student Personnel and Administration. She then returned to both her Alma Maters for her many joys.

When asked in what way Student Services could be more effective, Shada commented that she felt the office would run more smoothly if more students would get involved. Shada feels that too many students think that the office is there to serve, this is not true. The offices are there to help. Shada feels that too many of the students are too busy complaining rather than offering any constructive criticisms.

When asked about the rules, Shada would like to remind students of the comparison. Too many students compare CBR to many of the larger schools, such as FAU. The price for CBR is below the national average for schools our size, CBR is a small school, only about 600 students, and Shada feels the rules and regulations are fair for the course. When asked about the condition of the dorms, she thought they were good and commented on how the students always forget the hidden costs such as maids, water and electricity bills and so on. With the apparent increased vandalism in school, Shada said that all the students are mature in her eyes until proven otherwise. If they prove otherwise, then they will pay any material penalty as well as any social penalty. Only in chronological order and position does Shada feel she is above the student. Shada plans working with the students as much as possible and that students should feel at ease in being able to come talk to her.

The only two things Shada really dislikes are "bean sprouts and cauliflower" and she likes to sing, travel, and arts and crafts.

When asked what she wanted most out of life, her answer was simple..."A sheepdog. Congratulations and good luck in the future.

Campaign Trail

At CBR

By Amy Felter

The President of the College of Boca Raton, Dr. Donald E. Ross, is running for the United States Congress, the House of Representatives. In an interview with campaign manager Greg Malfitano, I asked why Dr. Ross made such a decision. Malfitano asked, "Dr. Ross feels there is a need for a leadership in the state and country. South Florida, being the largest growing area in the state and country, needs a strong leader to deal with its growth, education and industry. These are Dr. Ross' main concern."

Back Again?

By Amy Felter

After one short semester of teaching in the classroom Mr. Mathews has returned to his position as Vice President of Student Affairs.

When asked why two major jumps in such a short amount of time, Mr. Mathews stated that it was due to the change in administration. Back in July of '83, Mathews decided it was time for him to go back to the classroom. He stated, "All things being, I'd rather be in a classroom." One of his many joys.

With such a statement, why then did Mathews return to his original position? "I was asked by Dr. Ross if I was interested in having my old job back," stated Mathews. However, Mathews was unable to give any specific reasons as to why Dr. Ross raised such a question. He did say however that it took a couple of days for him to decide before he said yes.

Mathews feels that the college is now on a threshold. It has been reaffirmed at level I and a recommended candidate at level II. Mathews states, "Having the college in this position at this time would prove more challenging to my career."

When asked if he would ever return to teaching, Mathews replied, "Who knows."

Whatever the case may be, The College of Boca Raton wishes Mr. Mathews the best of luck in any position that he holds.
Welcome back! The second semester is off to a great start. The Student Government is digging into many new issues for this semester and planning activities for the spring.

One of our most recent issues is concerned with recreating the salad bar in our cafeteria. Food service has provided us with a good basic salad, but it has been brought to our attention that the students want more toppings, better dressings, etc. so, in the next few weeks, the S.G.A. and the food service will be working on this project.

I would personally like to thank all of the people who helped make the First Annual Super Wing Competition a success. The Student Government Association has purchased a plaque to display the winners for 1983-84 (D-wing and Sylv. 2nd Floor) and space was provided for many years to come.

This semester the S.G.A. will be meeting once a week and meetings will be open to anyone who would like to attend, the day and time will be posted as soon as your senators bring it to a vote.

If you have any problems, ideas, or questions about the College of Boca Raton, contact your senator or see me personally in D-211 of Patton Hall.

Tom Cole
President of S.G.A.

The ‘Real World’ Comes To Class

Students today don’t face the same future their parents did. But most undergraduates don’t plan for the future realistically, especially when it comes to the effect of their intended career on the family life they envision.

To help them, the Catalyst Foundation, a not-for-profit organization devoted to women’s career development issues, is developing an educational program designed to enhance student awareness of several new realities of modern existence, including the implications of career and family goals.

The course resulted from a four-year study of two-career marriages undertaken by Catalyst with funding from the Kellogg Foundation. In its final report, Catalyst expressed its desire to develop a college course on the issues, and the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., responded with a similar area. The prototype developed as an interim course, the kind that typically attracts 20 students. It d u m b - f o u n d e d everyone when 487 enrolled, and 40% were men.

That was in January 1982. Since then the course has been given at Southern Methodist U. during intercession. In January, 1984, it will be offered at Smith College as a full semester program.

Susan Lund, director of the Career and Family Center at Catalyst, says the course materials are being developed in various modules so that colleges may adapt the course and offer it in a variety of ways. Modules focus on career development, sex roles and socialization, values and goals, decision-making, spouse and family expectations, household management and finance, and a number of other subject areas. The program can be offered either as a credit or non-credit program.

A major attraction of the course is a series of thought-provoking exercises built into each module. Students may be asked to write a paragraph or two describing their perception of the ideal family, answering such questions as how many members does it have? What do they do? What sex are they? The paragraph then becomes the focus of intense discussion.

The program also includes films and other audio-visual materials, and, where possible, the course is linked to a series of special events for the general public on the same issues.

While the course is in development, Catalyst works closely with other programs interested in offering it, but eventually it hopes to offer the materials for sale for colleges to use on their own.

CORRECTION
Editor’s note — “The ‘Real World’ Comes To Class” was cast well as he centered on a Cuban family adjusting to life in Blackfoot, Iowa. The main character, Cachita Quintero (well played by Ingrid Dehner) was convinced to enter the Miss Blackfoot Contest to win the prize money and possibly break into show business.

Cachita goes through ups and downs during the period before the contest, always aided by her spicy sister, Rosita. (Sarah Martinez played the part of Rosita and did an excellent job throughout the play with her innuendos.) A series of characters entered the play and Cachita’s life. Most notable were the character of Alfred and Beverly Morey and Vicky Goldstein) lightened up the seriousness of other relationships.

Mike Levine as Stud was cast well as he brought the audience hopping with his delinquent behavior. This was topped off by his crashing the beauty contest in a harem costume.

Though credit goes to the whole cast, one actor stole the show. Doug Betts as Trooper Cahill delighted the audience with his antics on stage. Everyone in the audience will remember his hilarious interpretation of the inept Trooper for a long time to come.

A special credit must be given to those performers who participate in the talent portion of the Beauty Contest. Their abilities were appreciated.

A Man of Many Facets

Books-or the Beach
by Robert C. Koons III

Florida the land of sun, sand, and sea. For many people south Florida is a vacation paradise, a place to get away from the everyday conflicts of the working world. For the students of CBR south Florida takes on a different meaning.

The location of CBR is ideal for the temperaments of the average college student. With the beach just a short drive or bike ride away, many working for their degrees maybe working harder to get that extra ray of sun and many coastal water sports a student is able to lose his or her concentration on their work quicker than that of a student going to school in the North. For many CBR students who live up North this type of weather and lifestyle is one of the many fabulous advantages and distractions felt by attending school in the South.

The Advantages outnumber the disadvantages in attending school in South Florida. In talking to some students, most agree allotting your time for studying in the early morning before class or early evening before your favorite club or oysterboat opens is the most important thing.

When the books are closed and your studying is complete then it is Miller time, time to head for the best. Grab your favorite surfboard, six-pak, ski, sail board, scuba gear or girl/guy and head down to school town starting at 7:00 pm. The tradition began last November and involved hundreds of students and faculty from our campus. The Friday night agenda is: 7:00 pm-9:00 pm-coffeeshouse, 9:00-11:00-talent show, 11:00-1:00-surprise activity.

T.G.I.F. is planning to involve the use of a video cassette recorder and camera. All T.G.I.F.'s will be filmed and the videos will be played each week during the coffeehouse parties of the evening. Everyone is welcome to participate. Please contact Margaret Hopkins (483-8717) or Joe Rupert (Student Services).

Sister Marie Fidelis

Portrait of Teacher and Scientist

Kate Rishoff

One whole year has gone by since Dr. Robert Leon arrived at CBR. His warm, friendly smile and good nature has been felt not only within the four walls of the classroom, but all around the campus as well.

For those who take Economics, Finance or Management courses, you already know about his caring, helpful ways toward his students. Dr. Leon also possesses the inimitable ability to explain otherwise complicated subjects in the simplest of terms.

In her many years of studying in the early morning before class or early evening before her favorite club or oysterboat opens is the most important thing.

Throughout her life, Sister Fidelis has always taken a special liking to the great outdoors and appreciated the origin of living things. She believes that nature itself has aesthetic appeal, and is exemplified through the various trees, plants, and flowers that inhabit the earth. "Too often," Sister ponders deeply, "we go from day to day never stopping to recognize the beauty around us." She says that by studying nature more carefully, we are able to develop a deeper sense of reasoning, and realize how wonderful life really is.

Sister Fidelis pursued the "study of life" and gained for herself many notable academic achievements, namely her Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Fsi Phi Sigma and the National Science Foundation. She has also participated in many activities and fairs relating to the field of science, i.e. the Institute of Genetics Teachers at Colorado State, Ecology Institute, North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and Faculty Studies Abroad in Peru. As a result of her extensive research in Botany, she is a participant in the International Organization of Succulent Plant Research. Perhaps the most recent honor bestowed upon Sister Fidelis was receiving the Professor Emeritus title of Marygrove in Detroit.

When asked what Sister Fidelis feels is a fascinating subject dealing with the study of life, and the more we learn about it, the better we will be able to live.

Sister Marie Fidelis feels the most rewarding experience of teaching is the effect one has on their students; not only in stimulating their academic endeavors, but also developing of positive personal influences.

Thank God It's Friday

T.G.I.F. (thank god it's Friday) happens every Friday night at collegetown starting at 7:00 pm. The tradition began last November and involved hundreds of students and faculty from our campus.

As one last thought Sister points out that T.G.I.F. is planning to involve the use of a video cassette recorder and camera. All T.G.I.F.'s will be filmed and the videos will be played each week during the coffeehouse parties of the evening. Everyone is welcome to participate. Florida's Son of Tootsie

It made a good movie, having Dustin Hoffman for a woman, but could it really happen? Could a man really pass? After Danny Ball, a U. of Florida journalism grad system, saw "Tootsie," he says "an incredible curiosity" possessed him. He had to know if it could really be done.

Once he'd mentioned his curiosity to the features editor of The Independent Alligator, he found himself committed to finding out. So for one long day last month, Ball dressed and acted like a woman so that he could write about the experience for the student paper.

Drawing on his bachelor of fine arts degree in acting, Ball approached the part as Dustin Hoffman had. He got a permanent. He shaved his legs and his mustache. He worked hard on makeup and clothing. He didn't believe he could pass, but he tried. He didn't want the effort to fail because he'd been sloppy.

Ball's day as a woman was not fun. While many including his fellow newspaper staff members - failed to recognize him as Danny Ball, no one actually took him for a woman. He found himself commonly regarded as a transsexual, and on one occasion that led to trouble.

Outside a student bar, he was accosted by a group of males who shouted vulgarities and almost beat him up. Why did he go through with the masquerade if he didn't believe it would work? Ball says he's not sure about the answers to that question and many others the experience has raised for him.

"I'm still trying to sort it out in my own mind," he says.

Ball's wife, Annette, says the experience has changed his attitude toward women and made him much more sensitive. Ball says it has changed his attitude toward men. "Certain men, not all men," he explains. "I grew up in Texas and Texas bars with that whole macho myth. I discarded that long ago, but this experience made it more clear to me how silly all that is."

The experience has also given him more sympathy for transsexuals: "I learned," says Ball, "that masculinity means being at ease with yourself and the other sex."

After his day as a woman, Ball says, "I don't know why they did it. I like shaved legs, I'll admit, but I don't care about make-up or plucked eyebrows. Why do they?"

For the moment, Ball's wife likes him with the permanent, and, though they thought it a little strange, his parents are pleased he went through with it. "I would do it again unless he were paid a minimum wage he gets at the Alligator."

Cancer (June 22-July 23) Mars in Scorpio this month creates a mood of energy and abandon for the Cancerian. This is a perfect time for relationships, whether casual or permanent.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Taureans need to prepare themselves for some changes, due to Mercury and your opposite sign, Scorpio.

Sagittarius (November 22-December 21) 20th through the 14th, funds are, surprisingly, abundant. Enjoy it while you can. Old friends may begin to appear out of nowhere to reminisce. Be on the lookout for some tough assignment from your teachers, but don't fret; it's nothing you can't handle.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19) 20th is a peak especially around the 27th or 28th.

The Frustration of Registration

February Horoscope

Libra (September 23-October 22) 20th moving into your sign spells some monetary troubles from the 4th through the 20th. Be very careful and conserve, as expenses tend to be very heavy right now. Venus, your planetary ruler, is going to turn you into a virtual cleanliness freak toward the end of the month: your dorm will shine, much to your roommate's surprise.

Scorpio (October 23-November 21) Three planets: Saturn, Mars, and Pluto are transiting your sign this month, creating intense energy. Jupiter in Capricorn helps you with communication, so you should be well received, but watch the sarcasm.

Aries (March 21-April 19) You're apt to pursue. A partner may be unhappy and, though they may work out, you may need to be careful with your partner for some time.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Through the 20th, you are on a roll with communication, including you. Utilize this energy productively and garner a great deal of praise, especially after the 27th.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) This is the month for intellectual pursuits. You're apt to pick up a news magazine instead of a fashion journal. This is very helpful to you, both academically, as well as socially. After all, this is an election year. Mid-month, you may be susceptible to colds, so be careful.

Cancer (June 21-July 22) This month creates a mood of energy and abandon for the Cancerian. This is a perfect time for relationships, whether casual or permanent.

Virgo (August 23-September 22) Social activity is at a peak until after the 19th, so be sure to pace yourself. Jupiter moving into Virgo mid-month hints at some monetary gain. Your family will be in close contact with you the last week of the month.

Leo (July 23-August 22) After the 7th, you may have the intense urge to make a major move or change. Consider this very carefully. A full moon on the 17th fills you with a creative energy that surprises everyone, including you. Utilize this energy productively and garner a great deal of praise, especially after the 27th.

Capricorn (December 22-January 19) 20th is a peak especially around the 27th or 28th.

Aquarius (January 20-February 18) Around the 9th, when Mercury enters Aquarius, you may find yourself able to communicate with others, especially those close to you, much more easily. When Venus enters your sign, love abounds. There's a little of everything for the Aquarian this month.

Leading With Less

Little money and a lot of accountability shape the character of student government at a small school. Many of these schools find big national meetings costly and don't deal with their specific problems. That's why Illinois Wesleyan U. organized an annual Small School Leadership Conference, now in its second year.

Wesleyan's own student government has found a new direction in recent years, says Mark Metzger, its vice president. "We were simply the banker for many years," he says. "We're trying to be more administratively oriented." Tight purse strings held back real leadership.

Now, the student senate exercises more leadership on campus by winning student support through good programs, especially a successful concert series. "That gets the hook into them to pro student government," he says.

That 'hook' is especially important on a smaller campus, where the student government has to work very hard to meet the actual needs of a set group of people," says Metzger. "Our programs have to succeed. We are accountable."

Topics of discussion at this year's Small School Student Government conference included finances, organization, programming, and leadership. Finding the discussions at the conference so useful, Illinois Wesleyan is planning to sponsor a permanent regional organization in the near future.

*T.N.D. A. District Games; Double Header

Baseball
by Adam Lysaik

The College of Boca Raton baseball squad has an extensive season of fifty-two games including thirteen double headers. Nine games are N.A.I.A. district games, and of the nine, four end the Knights schedule.

January 29, the Knights took on John Toale, a minor league club, in a twin bill in which they split.

For the first game, Boca ran over John Toale 1-0 in which there was a bench clearer caused by a bean ball. Eric Swenson took the mound to start the game and only gave up two hits. Bob Boser came into relieve in the fourth inning to finish it off for Swenson only surrendering four hits himself.

Mike Marzillano, Peter Papas, and Sai Gardina each hit two run homers while Mark Campson and Andy Boll belted solo shots.

Jerry Baker had the California Angels scouting him that day and they made their trip well worth it. Baker was the hero of the day at the plate going seven for eight with three homers.

The night cap was almost as exciting as the first game, but only almost, because they lost six to five in ten innings.

Peter Papas did pull through with a clutch two run double so the Knights could move ahead. The lead changed back and forth and Boca came up just a little short.

Coach Harry Christensen was proud of the team's pitching and fielding and said that they hit the ball extremely well.

The Boca baseball Knights season officially starts January 31, so go check out the American pastime and catch some rays, too.

Soccer Team
by Adam Lysaik

Boca Raton's soccer team has no formal schedule this semester. The players only have scrimmages while they rest up from last season.

During the Knights regular schedule, coach Roy Swenson was very satisfied with the men making it to the semi-finals by moving quickly and attacking first. Unfortunately they lost in the semi-finals two to one after travelling to Georgia to play the match.

The soccer team had much to be happy about last season and they are looking forward to the next one.
Try BACCHUS For Your Next Party

Chaz Lane

Do you wake up mornings, not remembering what you did last night, having a hangover or throwing up? Do you laugh when people tell you things you have done because you really think about it, you may cry? Do you find yourself losing your temper and getting into arguments and/or physical fights because you drank too much? When you do drink, do you drink too much? If you have answered yes, to even one of these questions, you might consider looking into BACCHUS.

BACCHUS does not look down on those who drink because many BACCHUS members drink them to year. They believe that drinking, when done in a mature, responsible way, can be a good thing.

When you go to a BACCHUS meeting or party, you are not necessarily saying you have a drinking problem, or that you are an alcoholic, you are taking one step to realizing you can still drink, yet, not always get drunk.

Going to a BACCHUS party and/or meeting is fun and interesting, but, also educating. It creates an awareness of the effects to your health and body, teaches appropriate ways of using alcohol, discusses what is involved with problem drinking and talks of the affects on families and friends of a problem drinker. BACCHUS helps people be comfortable with decisions they have made about drinking. It also helps people overcome peer pressure.

All of this is done through small group meetings, guest speakers and special events. BACCHUS wants to help young people appreciate both the enjoyment of drinking and realize the consequences of drinking when not used properly. BACCHUS also has guides to being a better host when throwing a party yourself.

Located in student services, Debra Deshner, is getting a BACCHUS program into effect at CBR this semester. The first BACCHUS party will be held in College Town on February 20 at 8:30 P.M. Also coming soon will be an alcohol awareness program in conjunction with FAU. There will be raffles and races. To show how alcohol affects driving, a special obstacle driving course will be set up, showing the difference between a sober driver and a driver that has four ounces of alcohol in his or her body.

To find out more about BACCHUS contact Ms. Deshner in her office in Student Services after 1:30 any afternoon. Get involved, you'll be surprised to see how much you can learn.

New Faculty

by Judy Nilson

Elizabeth Bates is a bright edition to our computer center. She has actively participated and taught in the computer field for over five years in the United States and various parts of Europe. Originally from Canada, Bates now has made Florida her permanent residence with her family.

Bates educates or re trainable adults as well as CBR students. She teaches basic computer training course designed to retrain IBM executives, bankers and other people who require computer skills. Introductory computer courses allow people in the work force to keep up with the latest developments in high technology - innovations which touch each of our lives.

The courses Bates teaches are varied. They include "Intro Plus", "Lotus 1, 2, 3", "D Base II", "Word Processing" and "Programming I and II". The material covered in these courses range from basic knowledge of the computer to communicating in a special language with the computer.

Bates has strong feelings about educating women since "the computer has no sense of gender." She also wishes to remove fears of technology and she stresses that there is no need for math anxiety.

Bates wishes to "open up the door and introduce people to BIT S and BITES and RAMS and ROMS."

Dear Sabrina

Dear Sabrina,

Has there ever been a time in your life when everything is closing in on you, especially when you find out someone you thought was a friend betrayed you? He doesn't understand what he's done wrong. He won't even give me the time of day. How do I approach him to explain my feelings and the reasons why?

Signed — A Lost Friend

Dear Confused,

Why choose? You're too young to be tied down to one person. College is a time in your life when you should experience new things — not only in the romance department but in general. Enjoy!!

Dear Sabrina,

A friend of mine got close to my boyfriend. Well, it seems some sort of friendship started between them. Why can't she come out and tell me if there is more than a friendship between them? Should I confront her or both of them?

Signed — Suspicious

Dear Sabrina,

I'm torn between two lovers — my boyfriend back home whom I'm very much in love with — and this new guy who I like a lot and could have a special relationship with. How do I choose?

Signed — Confused

Dear Suspicious,

Go have a drink. No, really, if your friend is really your friend, she wouldn't hide anything from you, and if your boyfriend cares about you, he wouldn't "sneak around" behind your back. It may not be worth confronting them about this because then both of them may feel as if you do not trust them, therefore harming your relationships even more. Trust them. But if, by chance, things don't work out, remember that you deserve better friends than this.

The Thrill of Choosing Classes
Talent? Furniture Design Competition

MIAMI — The Florida Association of Furniture Manufacturers — a statewide organization — is sponsoring its first furniture design competition for college and university design students.

The FAFM Irving Kane Memorial Design Competition is named in memory of Irving Kane, a longtime member of the FAFM who was murdered near his Miami business in mid-1983.

"The competition is designed for full-time students enrolled in a design curriculum at an accredited Florida upper-educational institution," said Dennis Lentin, president of the Association. "Through this competition, we will provide students with an opportunity to present their work to the industry and also give professionals an opportunity to observe the work of future designers."

Judging will be by professionals from the home furnishings industry.

The competition will be divided into four categories: upholstered pieces and sleepers, case goods, occasional furniture, and casual furniture.

"Judging of the entries will be based upon originality, style and the practicality of the designed furniture piece," said Lentin.

Five hundred dollars will be awarded to first place winners. Second place winners will receive $200 and third place winners, $50. Honorable certificates will also be awarded.

Entries may be delivered in person or mailed to: Florida Association of Furniture Manufacturers, RLA Building, 141 Sevilla Ave., Coral Gables, Florida 33134.

Entries must be received by May 31. Design Competition have been sent to all appropriate colleges and universities or are available from the Florida Association of Furniture Manufacturers, 141 Sevilla Ave., Coral Gables, Fla. 33134 or by calling (305) 443-3233.

Check Out RAGU

By Ferda Kavak

Hi friends and students at C.B.R. Even though we are away from our homes and also our churches, God's hands are on us wherever we go! There is a new club on campus call RAGU ('Rappin' about God and us). The purpose of this club is three-fold:

1) to build unity on our campus
2) to develop an awareness of our friendship
3) to look at the bible traditions. Please come and join us! For more information contact Joe Rupert or Ferda Kavak in Student Services.
