SPECIAL AWARDS

The College of Education Outstanding Graduate Student Award is given to the person who displays outstanding potential for scholarship and leadership in the field of education.

The Professional and Continuing Education Award is presented to the candidate who has maintained the highest grade point average in the evening undergraduate program and has demonstrated community service and dedication to lifelong learning.

The Master's Degree Award is presented to the student who has attained the highest cumulative grade point average for his or her entire degree course work. Students are also evaluated on other factors that may include involvement within Lynn University and local communities.

2010 CLASS GIFT

By popular vote, the Class of 2010 has selected the Graduation Archway as its legacy to Lynn University. The archway brings an enhancement to campus while providing students and their families with a scenic site for that precious graduation day moment to be captured on film. Thanks to all those 2010 graduates who believed in and contributed to, this gift that will leave your mark on your alma mater.
COMMENCEMENT SPEAKER: Dr. Sanjay Gupta

Dr. Sanjay Gupta is chief of neurosurgery at Grady Memorial Hospital, an assistant professor of neurosurgery at Emory University School of Medicine and senior medical correspondent for the health and medical unit at CNN. Based in Atlanta, he also writes a column for TIME magazine.

Gupta joined CNN in the summer of 2001 and became part of the network team covering the Sept. 11 attacks in New York City, breaking news about anthrax and its deadly effects. In 2003, he spent time in Iraq and Kuwait, reporting on various medical aspects of escalating tension with Iraq. He offered viewers exclusive reports from points along the unit's travel to Baghdad and provided live coverage from a desert operating room, where he performed brain surgery five times.

In 2004, he traveled to the international AIDS conference in Bangkok, where he reported on the pandemic. That coverage contributed to the awarding of an Alfred I. duPont Award to CNN. In December 2004, Gupta was sent to Sri Lanka to cover the disaster and aftermath of the tsunami that took more than 155,000 lives in South Asia.

Gupta has been published in a variety of scientific journals and has received numerous accolades. In 2003, he was named one of PEOPLE magazine's "Sexiest Men Alive" and a "pop culture icon" by USA Today. In 2004, the Atlanta Press Club named him "Journalist of the Year." He has won the Humanitarian Award from the National Press Photographers Association, a GOLD Award from the National Health Care Communicators and a finalist honor for the International Health and Medical Media award.

He is a member of the American Association of Neurological Surgeons, Congress of Neurological Surgeons, Do Something Foundation, Healing the Children Foundation, the Council of Foreign Relations and the Brain Foundation.

Gupta received his undergraduate degree from the University of Michigan and a Doctor of Medicine from the University of Michigan Medical School.
Kudakwashe Biza came to Lynn University for his undergraduate studies from his homeland of Zimbabwe when the economic and political climate was in turmoil there. His parents endured severe economic conditions, and very few believed Kuda would complete his undergraduate degree. But through hard work and perseverance, he is now a proud candidate in the Master of Business Administration program.

Since becoming part of the Lynn family in August 2005, the Zimbabwean native has shown excellent leadership qualities in addition to his stellar academic performance.

He was the founding president of the African Club; president of the Future Business Leaders Society (FBLS), during which he spearheaded the six-month EDEM project, a partnership with Food for the Poor which raised more than $1,500 for the Food for the Poor Haiti Fund; and a resident assistant, helping foster a positive living environment for a diverse group of students. For his hard work and diligence he was nominated for the 2009 Lynn University Student Employee of the Year.

Kuda interned for two summers at Jarden Consumer Solutions, assisting in strategizing brand development, and he was a graduate assistant for the Office of Admission.

In May 2009, Kuda graduated summa cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, with a double specialization in International Business and Aviation Management, and was awarded the Dean’s Award of Excellence in undergraduate education for the Burton D. Morgan School of Aeronautics.

Coming from sub-Saharan Africa, Kuda has always been passionate about giving back to society. He volunteered with Food for the Poor and Relay for Life, and he was co-founder and chief donor of Authentic Fashion Renaissance (AFR), an afro-centric apparel company featured at the Lynn University African Fashion Show, with the proceeds and sale of AFR shirts donated to NOAH, an orphanage in South Africa.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Lending color to the pageantry of commencement are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty and students. This regalia reaches back into the medieval ages, when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating the learned men from other groups and offering warmth and protection.

In America in the late 19th century, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, undergraduates wear the black robes with the white collars. Holders of the master’s degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

Holders of degrees from foreign universities or religious orders wear the entire academic costume as decreed by the conferring institution.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on the hoods worn in the academic procession and the subject each represents.
Arts, Letters, Humanities: White
Commerce, Business: Drab
Communication: Crimson
Economics: Copper
Education: Light blue
Engineering: Orange
Fine Arts: Brown
Foreign Affairs: Aquamarine
Journalism: Crimson
Law: Purple
Library Science: Lemon

Violet/jade green honor cord: Kappa Delta Pi education international honor society
THE GONFALONS

The gonfalons, a tradition that has origins in the civic rituals of 12th century Italy, were introduced last year to Lynn University’s academic ceremonial protocol.

Lynn University’s gonfalons were designed in accordance with standards established for all colleges and universities and bear each college’s unique symbolic colors. The common bonds that unite faculty and students as members of one academic community are embodied in the display of the university’s seal on each individual gonfalon. The vice president for academic affairs, in consultation with the academic deans, selects the faculty members honored to serve as gonfalon bearers.

THE CEREMONIAL ACADEMIC MACE

The academic mace traces its origins to the 14th century, when the royal scepter historically carried by rulers and the battle mace were combined to produce the ceremonial academic mace. It was carried in processions of royalty, magistrates, and church or university officials.

During the commencement ceremony, the mace indicates the authority of the university president to award degrees. The mace is carried by the chief marshal.

The Lynn University mace consists of a three-foot tall wood scepter with a bronze cast of the Lynn University seal on the top. It was designed in 2002 by Graphic Design Professor Emeritus Ernest Ranspach, who presented it to Lynn University President Emeritus Donald E. Ross in honor of 30 years of leadership and service.

This program is not an official graduation list. This printed program lists students who were eligible to graduate for academic year 2009-10, as of April 1, 2010, pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student’s academic or degree status. The university’s official registry for the conferral of degrees is the student’s permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the Registrar, Lynn University, 3601 N. Military Trail, Boca Raton, FL 33431.
LYNN UNIVERSITY
ALMA MATER

Under skies of blue
We’ve made friends so true
From every corner of the world
Celebrating different cultures
Made us see our world anew.

From this caring place
We will squarely face
The challenge of our destiny
Like our Fighting Knights
We’ll lift hearts and sights
And we’ll go forth in victory

And if our blue skies should turn to grey days
Or we misplace a dream or two
We’ll remember Alma Mater
And then Her spirit will see us through.

So let’s raise our voice
In a proud refrain
Remembering good times we all knew
Hail all hail our Alma Mater
Lynn University... Here’s to you!

Music and lyrics by Joe Carey
Choral arrangement by Rick Krive
