SPECIAL AWARDS

The College of Education Outstanding Graduate Student Award is given to the person who displays outstanding potential for scholarship and leadership in the field of education.

The Professional and Continuing Education Award is presented to the candidate who has maintained the highest grade point average in the evening undergraduate program and has demonstrated community service and dedication to lifelong learning.

The Master's Degree Award is presented to the student who has attained the highest cumulative grade point average for his or her entire degree course work. Students are also evaluated on other factors that may include involvement within Lynn University and local communities.

As a legacy to their alma mater, members of the Class of 2011 have provided for a beautiful covered gazebo. Located at the heart of campus on the lawn of the Freiburger Residence Hall, the gazebo will serve as a central meeting spot for students and provide a perfect area to host campus events. Thanks to all of the 2011 graduates who contributed to this gift. This gazebo will symbolize your lasting ties to Lynn University.
Lee Woodruff knows that life changes in an instant. One minute, you’re a successful freelance writer and businesswoman, mother of four children, and wife of Bob Woodruff, the newly appointed co-anchor of ABC’s World News Tonight. The next minute, your life turns upside down when your husband is severely wounded in a roadside bomb attack in Iraq while anchoring a broadcast.

Woodruff held their family together, providing the extra support her children needed, as well as providing moral and physical support to her husband during his slow recovery from near-death following the 2006 attack. She and Bob wrote a compelling account of their amazing journey in The New York Times bestseller, In an Instant: A Family’s Journey of Love and Healing.

Appearing together on national television and radio since the February 2007 publication of their book, the couple has helped put a face on the serious issue of traumatic brain injury among returning Iraq war veterans, as well as the millions of Americans who live with this often invisible, but life-changing affliction.

They have founded the Bob Woodruff Foundation (ReMind.org) to assist wounded service members and their families receive the long-term care that they need and help them successfully reintegrate into their communities.

Lee Woodruff is a contributing editor for ABC’s Good Morning America, reporting on a variety of home and family related topics. She recently published her second book, Perfectly Imperfect—A Life in Progress. In the book, Woodruff tackles the universal topics of life, such as family, friends and marriage, with heart and humor. In addition, her first novel will be published in the summer of 2012.

A freelance writer, Woodruff has penned numerous personal articles about her family and parenting that have run in such magazines as Health, Redbook, Country Living, Parade and Family Fun.

In addition to freelance writing, Woodruff ran her own public relations and marketing consulting business for 16 years. Before that, she was senior vice president of the public relations firm Porter Novelli.

At present, Woodruff lives in Westchester County, New York, with her husband and four children.
Jessica Del Vecchio began her career in finance 13 years ago at Smith Barney in Boca Raton. There, she advanced from a part-time assistant to a full-time broker, earning her Series 3, 7, 63, 65, and Life, Health and Variable Annuity licenses.

Although these licenses were achievements in their own right, Jessica had not yet completed her undergraduate studies and yearned to do so. After visiting Lynn University, she knew she wanted to pursue those studies here. Not only that, she dreamed of one day earning a Master of Business Administration degree.

Soon, a change in her career would enable her to pursue those goals. While at Smith Barney, Jessica met Stanley Haar, a commodity trader, and was introduced to the commodity markets. In 2006, Haar opened his own commodity trading advisory firm, Haar Capital, and Jessica joined his team as director of operations. She also took another important step—resuming her college studies while working full-time, and she enrolled at her first choice, Lynn University. In 2010, she graduated magna cum laude with a bachelor's degree in business management.

Because she enjoyed being back in the classroom and the Lynn campus so much, she immediately enrolled in Lynn's M.B.A. program, specializing in financial valuation and investment management. Today, after much hard work and determination, her dream of an M.B.A. from Lynn University comes true.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Lending color to the pageantry of commencement are the academic robes and hoods worn by the faculty and students. This regalia reaches back into the medieval ages, when it served a functional as well as an ornamental role, separating the learned men from other groups and offering warmth and protection.

In America in the late 19th century, a conference was held by representatives of colleges and universities to bring some order and system to the custom of academic dress. Since then, there have been periodic conferences to revise or reconfirm existing practices.

Essentially, undergraduates wear the black robes with the white collars. Holders of the master’s degree wear hoods which are lined with the colors of the college conferring the degree and trimmed with the color representing the subject in which the degree was earned. The doctoral robe is adorned with velvet and is also worn with the hood suitably ornamented.

Holders of degrees from foreign universities or religious orders wear the entire academic costume as decreed by the conferring institution.

The following list reflects the colors which will be found on the hoods worn in the academic procession and the subject each represents.

THE GONFALONS

The gonfalons, a tradition that has origins in the civic rituals of 12th century Italy, were introduced last year to Lynn University’s academic ceremonial protocol.

Lynn University’s gonfalons were designed in accordance with standards established for all colleges and universities and bear each college’s unique symbolic colors. The common bonds that unite faculty and students as members of one academic community are embodied in the display of the university’s seal on each individual gonfalon. The vice president for academic affairs, in consultation with the academic deans, selects the faculty members honored to serve as gonfalon bearers.

THE CEREMONIAL ACADEMIC MACE

The academic mace traces its origins to the 14th century, when the royal scepter historically carried by rulers and the battle mace were combined to produce the ceremonial academic mace. It was carried in processions of royalty, magistrates, and church or university officials.

During the commencement ceremony, the mace indicates the authority of the university president to award degrees. The mace is carried by the chief marshal.

The Lynn University mace consists of a three-foot tall wood scepter with a bronze cast of the Lynn University seal on the top. It was designed in 2002 by Graphic Design Professor Emeritus Ernest Ranspach, who presented it to Lynn University President Emeritus Donald E. Ross in honor of 30 years of leadership and service.

This program is not an official graduation list. This printed program lists students who were eligible to graduate for academic year 2010-11, as of April 1, 2011, pending the outcome of final examinations and final grades. Therefore, it should not be used to determine a student’s academic or degree status. The university’s official registry for the conferral of degrees is the student’s permanent academic record, kept by the Office of the Registrar, Lynn University, 3601 N. Military Trail, Boca Raton, FL 33431.
LYNN UNIVERSITY
ALMA MATER

Under skies of blue
We’ve made friends so true
From every corner of the world
Celebrating different cultures
Made us see our world anew.

From this caring place
We will squarely face
The challenge of our destiny
Like our Fighting Knights
We’ll lift hearts and sights
And we’ll go forth in victory

And if our blue skies should turn to grey days
Or we misplace a dream or two
We’ll remember Alma Mater
And then Her spirit will see us through.

So let’s raise our voice
In a proud refrain
Remembering good times we all knew
Hail all hail our Alma Mater
Lynn University...Here’s to you!

Music and lyrics by Joe Carey
Choral arrangement by Rick Krive
