ASSAF WING OPENS ITS' DOORS TO NINE NEW CLASSROOMS AND A MODERN, DECO LOOK

By: Velda Albuquerque
Editor In Chief

On November 15, 1995, the ribbon cutting ceremony for the new ASSAF wing will take place. After eight months of intensive construction by the Garrett/Walbridge Company, the Sensormatic wing was completed on August 15, 1995. This new acquisition created nine new classrooms. The entire building went through changes to update safety procedures and uplift the buildings' appearance.

"The classrooms had all new ceilings as well as new lights. A fire sprinkler system was installed in the whole building. All classrooms received new doors and the building was repainted," said Greg Malfitano, Vice President for Administration and Student Services.

The nine new rooms built in the Sensormatic wing are all classrooms. No particular department will be meeting in those rooms, According to Malfitano, "All divisions of the university will share the use of those nine classrooms."

When Malfitano was asked to express his feelings toward ASSAF as a whole, "It is great! We certainly needed the additional classrooms for several years. We added nine new classrooms during this and last summer as well as the addition of three rooms to the Ritter building. We are happy to be able to meet the need for more classrooms."

With the new rooms the whole building had to be renumbered, and went through inspections, such as the fire department, to meet code on the building and the city's safety requirements.

A ceremony and reception are being planned for the ribbon cutting. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald ASSAF and representatives from the Sensormatic Corporation are expected to be among the invited guests. The finishing arrangements for the ceremony are being finalized. Student organizations such as the Knights of the Roundtable, Student Government and Greeks are expected to put in an appearance to represent the Lynn University student body.
The Excalibur Earns First Place Award

By: Caroline Bowers
Staff Writer

The Excalibur is Lynn University's student run yearbook. Every year a staff of students will put together memories for everyone to keep and cherish. The 1994-1995 year book won a national title for the theme and cover from Jostens publishing company. The theme for the 1995 edition was "For One Brief Shining Moment" from Camelot and the cover featured a black and white embossed photograph of Deerfield Beach taken by past Editor Sharika Hanna-Emery and Advisor John Ness. The yearbook sold out completely, but for all of you that have not seen it, please stop by Student Activities, which is located above the cafeteria and take a look.

This year the yearbook staff has met to start to plan the yearbook for 1995-1996. If anyone would like to help out please contact John Ness in Student Activities at 994-0770 Extension 318.

Week Number One

By: Pauline De La Peza
Staff Writer

During the first week of school many people begin to let all there feelings and emotions take over their lives. For example, the new freshmen which arrived at Lynn for their first year were welcomed and greeted with Orientation Week activities. Once the welcoming was done, the "new" students were able to begin in forming their own opinions about the place which was new to them. College.

Pamela Jane Meyers and Kimberly Panzanaro are two new freshmen students experiencing Lynn University, as well as the entire college life, for the first time. When these two girls first came to Lynn, they were overwhelmed with all the things which they were seeing, hearing, and doing for the first time. However, both of these girls began to come to form their own thoughts about Lynn. Inside Pamela's mind, she was very excited about being here and seeing what was to expect, etc. Upon Kimberly's arrival at Lynn, she found the school to have a nice atmosphere, and friendly, helpful people. As Kimberly began to participate in the Orientation activities, she felt that the people began to make her transition easier. Kimberly, was later very pleased with the willingness of the staff to help her feel comfortable. "I really thought that all activities were nice, my favorite was the sit down dinner, and the people were very helpful." Kimberly Panzanaro, also found Orientation week to be of great help, in that she was somewhat familiar with where to go, what to in store for her next. Orientation week became something that she found to be more helpful as the days passed. Yet, towards the end of the week, "I found that I did not even have enough time to do things I needed to do to get completely settled in." I began to feel as though I was being rushed around, but I knew that was only the beginning."

"Overall, the the activities that were planned for us during Orientation week were extremely beneficial to me, and most other girls I know". "I enjoyed the first week and became interested to see what else I would learn at Lynn".

The Pulse
To Our Lynn University Counterparts

By: Jeanne Rupp (ILIR member)
Contribution Writer

Those of us who are members of ILIR are very much committed to the concepts of life-long learning, self motivation and inter-generational linkage.

Lynn University's hospitality has helped make this concept a reality. The Lynn University campus is idyllic, and I guess it's an attribute of my advanced years to become a little sentimental, if that's the word) but my eyes fill up when I stand back and see myself back at college in such a beautiful setting.

At the risk of having this essay become an "in the old days..." story, I feel compelled to say that when I attended City College in New York, first days and then evenings because I had to work during the day, there was no campus, just city streets. The buildings were architecturally beautiful and impressive, but I ran through Morningside Park after a nine to five job, arriving in the nick of time for my first class at six o'clock. I often nodded off until the oxygen, used in digesting my dinner of Nedick's hot dog, returned to my brain. Often, home wasn't seen until midnight, after an opposite trek through the park, followed by a ride on the subway. And homework--that was relegated to lunch hour and weekends.

But it was all worth it, because it enabled me--and I'm sure so many of us ILIRs, to be here with you in our utopian learning environment.

Seeing you--beautiful, svelte, intent young women and men, we feel privileged to walk along the campus paths with you, (albeit at a bit slower pace.)

We're eager to learn from you how you see the world, what you envision for its future and how you plan to get there from here.

We'd like to be invited to a representative course or meeting (unobtrusively and on a very small scale) and we'd like for you to take time from your busy schedules to do the same-- to see how our classes are run by our members.

Our members are lucky because they were able to retire to begin a new life of purpose and meaning. Perhaps we can share something of value that will help you to enjoy the rewards of a productive working life and find another new significant one when you retire.

So we look forward to a greater development of what has already begun--the concept of learners of the past, present and future truly linked, here at Lynn University.

Expanding the World at Lynn

The International Center will occupy a 24,248 square foot area. It will incorporate the Cohen International House, classrooms, administrative offices, lecture hall, multi-purpose meeting room, and a 250 seat auditorium.

The Lynn University International center will be located behind the existing library. For Lynn's growing student population the adequate and up to date facilities are needed in order to accomplish academic excellence, and to better accommodate both faculty and students.

The Lynn University campus has been expanding rapidly. First, it was the Count and Countess de Hoernle Center(1993), followed by the Sesormatic wing in the Assaf building (1995), and coming up next in 1996 are the new library and the Lynn University International Center.

Women's Golf Team Win Nationals
By: Gabriela Fleitas
Student Life Editor

"It was fun, and we were surprised that we won the tournament," states Josefin Stalvant.

Also, during the last week of May the women's golf team, brought back with them from South Dakota, the National title.

According to Stalvant, "Our head coach, Greg Cox, promised that if the girls and I won the individuals, he promised we could cut his Ponytail. " And they did if you haven't noticed.

As of right now, the girls are striving to win the next tournament, and hopefully go to the finals.

This year we have two new additions to the girls' golf team. They are: Zoe Grinbeek, from South Africa, and Kelly Sheehan from the United States. They are also looking forward to a great season.

Women's Tennis Team Win Nationals
By: Gabriela Fleitas
Student Life Editor

During the week of the 27th of May, the Lynn University Women's Tennis team, brought back with them a victory, after receiving the National title. This year the women's tennis team struggled the whole season to reach the top.

The nationals, took place this year in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The tennis team was able to win the nationals through accumulative points, and drawing individuals. The girls played six singles, and three doubles.

When Marines Duarte, from Cacaras, Venezuela was asked how she felt about winning the championship, she commented. "This was a great experience for me, and I feel that I am part of a great team. I also felt very happy, because we had reached our main goal which we had been striving for together as a team."

The Unpredictable Season
By: Jon Morstein
Sports Editor

This season the Miami Dolphins are highly ranked as one of the leading teams to win the Super Bowl. Until now, year after year, the Dolphins always make it to the playoffs but usually lose in the first round. Fans have been discouraged by the Dolphins previous performances. The Dolphins are ranked in the top five defenses and have a talented offense.

Dan Marino is a lock in the Hall of Fame. Many players heading to the Hall of Fame would like to win a Super Bowl. If the Miami Dolphins don't win, will this be Dan Marino's last year? This will be an interesting decision for him to make. The difference that makes a quarterbacks great is the ability to get the job done. Most of the quarterbacks in the Hall of Fame now, have won a Super Bowl or a Championship.

Based on their performance. This is the best team Miami has had since 1973. In 1973, the Dolphins went 16-0 and won their second straight Super Bowl. If the Dolphins stay healthy and avoid injuries, chances of making the Super Bowl seem very optimistic. There is no team in the AFC that comes as close defensively. The Dolphins looked dominating in their first three games, but for the past five years people, I predicted the Dolphins to make the playoffs but they lost early.

1.) Will this be Dan Marino's first and only Super Bowl victory? 2.) Do the Dolphins have the talent to win? 3.) Finally, will this be another season down the drain? These questions will be answered at the end of January.
Professional Baseball
Cries For Help

By: Jon Morstein
Sports Editor

If the owners and players do not resolve their conflicts, professional baseball will come to an end. This was why the season attendance dropped 20% from last year. Owners are requesting a salary cap in order to prevent the richer owners from buying out the higher priced players.

The players are afraid that a pay cut may happen. This situation has created a bit of anticipation on the sense that no one is sure of which teams will be playing next season. The reason for these dispute is free agency. Free agency means that if some player's contract runs out, he is then eligible to go to another team for more money. This makes the payrolls increase and places the owners in a awkward position.

Prices for tickets have been raised severely. A family of four can easily spend an estimated $100 on tickets, food, and souvenirs at a baseball game. The worst things are the refreshment prices. The sodas are watered down, chips are stale, and the peanuts aren't even fresh.

Professional baseball has many problems that need to be resolved. There are many more issues of importance in the world rather than baseball.

The Pulse 5
Is Windows 95 Worth Your Time and Money

By: Nicole DiNapoli
News Editor

Now that Windows 95 is finally out on the market and all the hype has died down, it seems that the billion dollar product created by Bill Gates is not what the company has made it out to be. Microsoft has spent millions on publicity, including a commercial featuring the Rolling Stones, "Start Me Up" to promote how spectacular the program is. Expects, like our very own Michael Petroski, Computer teacher, disagrees. He gives the top three reasons why consumers should hold off on purchasing a copy of Windows 95.

Reason # 1
The Microsoft company fails to mention it, but it is said that the program is ridden with "bugs". Not only will this be harmful for the computer, but the common "hacker" won't know what to do if a serious problem occurs.

Reason # 2
Though Windows 95 runs faster than the older program, it takes up ninety to one hundred megabytes where the other version only uses forty to fifty megabytes ram. To the casual user, such as students who use their computers for work and games, they're not going to notice the difference.

Reason # 3
The last reason is money. The new Windows runs from $80.00 to $85.00 which is a high price for a item that will go down in cost after a few months.

Over the summer, Lynn received a copy of Windows 95 to put into our computers. Needless to say, the school was not at all happy with what they found, so they have decided to wait until next Fall to purchase the program. Hopefully the kinks will be out by then.

In closing, Petroski ended in stating, "I can't understand why people stood in line for hours just because it was the premiere day when the program was stock in stores that very next day."

When asked if he found anything impressive about the new Windows 95, Petroski responded in saying, "I was impressed with the marketing strategy and the fact that, Bill Gates (who according to Fortune magazine is worth 13.5 billion dollars) became such a success. Quite a step up for a computer nerd."

Sugar Sand Science Playground
By: Sugar Sand
Public Relations

The Sugar Sand Science Playground project is to bring a unique playground and community experience to the greater Boca Raton area. It is estimated that over 200,000 children and adults will frequent this community-built playground located on Military Trail between Camino Real and Palmetto Park Road.

What is a Science Playground? It is like any other playground where there are swings, slides, and jungle gyms, but there are also about 40 interactive science playstructions. Some small examples include: whisper dishes that let you experience the physics of sound; a human head that you can climb through and see how bodily functions like the eyes work. Another feature is called, A Future City, which is a space station. There is also a keyboard monitor, and a Ball Logic Machine for a "simple" look at the binary system.

How is it all being built? Volunteers! Yes, some very special people are going to give their time as well as their hearts for such a project.

If you would like to see the building taking place on November 3-12, please, enlist.

For more information or an application, call (407) 368-PLAY or contact Sally Markman (407) 451-3636 and Sue Ellen Ciaggett at 2415 NW 40th Circle, Boca Raton, Fl. 33431 Fax (407) 488-9112

Applications will also be available at the Pulse office which is located on the second floor of the Student Center.

However it will not actually be open to the student body until we return from Christmas break.

The Lynn Library is 3-stories high, has 54,000 square feet and will house 80,000 volumes. It will also have a new 24-hour computer lab, automated circulation, more computer terminals, and a quite environment for studying.

Driving through the main entrance of Lynn University, you cannot help but notice the big 3-story building under construction. In case you did not already know, it's the new Eugene M. and Christine E. Lynn Library. While talking with Tom Heffernan all is going as planned. Everything is on time and the new library will be ready to move volumes into by the end of December.

Florida Ranks as Top Ten Best Places to Live
By: Nate Flynn
Staff Writer

In the September issue of Money Magazine, there is an article which ranks the best places to live in America. I happen to believe that the best place to live is any place in which you are most content. Some people prefer living in the suburbs while others prefer big cities or beaches. For those die-hard Americans, the far northeast is home. It's hard to say what is the best place in America to live in. Money Magazine convincingly portrays several cities in Florida which are among the top ten.

According to their data, no other state in the country has had as much employment growth and been able to keep its real estate at such affordable prices. Florida is also one of the only nine states in the country to offer no tax on income. In the future, Florida will also be home to many major upcoming corporations which means great job opportunities. Florida is not only the home of sandy beaches, sun, and palm trees, it's also home to one of the fastest growing economic states in the country.

According to Money Magazine, the following are the ten best places in America to live. Gainesville, Fla., Rochester, Minn., Jacksonville, Fla., Seattle, WA, Ocala, Fla., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Haverhill, Mass., Raleigh-Durham, N.C., Las Vegas, and Naples, Fla. These cities are all ranked strictly on economic and social data. personal preferences had no effect on the outcomes.

Lynn University Has Its Own Radio Station

By: Scott Wisely
Contribution Writer

Monday September 25, marked the premier of Lynn University's newest addition, WLYN 96.1 FM. This radio station idea sparked from a Small Group Communications class in the spring of 1995. In April of '95, Lynn University appointed Scott Wisely as the Station Manager of their new station which had yet to be built. Over the summer the station site was prepared, music selections were purchased, and staffing plans were finalized. September 7, 1995, Lynn University got a sneak preview of an all listening experience. On September 25, many students, staff, and listeners were treated to a new type of music called College Alternative.

College Alternative differs from the "Normal" or "Commercial" Alternative because College Alternative plays the newest in Alternative music trends. For those who prefer more "mainstream" alternative music, WLYN plays that addition to Dance, Rap, Reggae, Hip Hop, Rock-n-Roll, and House music. The station is currently staffed with a News Department, headed by Dan Shapiro, and a Sports Department, headed by Frank Aliaga, and an Assistant Manager, Dave Matthews and 30 other talented Disc Jockeys. Contests and Promotions are planned for the near future and there are still a few positions available for anyone interested. For more information everyone is encouraged to call in and become a part of WLYN history.

To contact WLYN at any time call 994-0770 ext. 137.

A Closer Look at L.U.'s Social Greek System

By: Christopher W. Carson, Jr.

CONGRATULATIONS to all the Greeks on a very successful Fall Rush. This semester has proven the Greek Systems' ability to survive and flourish at Lynn University. Each organization recruited 12-16 new members who will spend the next few weeks learning about their chosen group, in order to prove themselves and become initiated as a full fledged member.

For both fraternities, this will be an opportunity to pass on the knowledge, history and traditions they have acquired over the last year since they colonized. For the sorority, they will complete their next phase by choosing a national affiliation and start recruiting more members.

One thing is certain - for all who are involved, this semester promises to be one of entertainment and memories that will last a lifetime. Just a few of the events and activities that the Greeks are sponsoring and are involved in this semester are: AIDS Awareness Day (with the KOR), Greek Mocktail Contest, 2nd Annual Fraternity Football Challenge, Spanish River Beach Clean Up, Greek Games against Barry, St. Thomas and Nova Universities, a new Greek Scholarship Program, and a wide variety of social gatherings. Good luck to all the new members and the brothers and sisters whose jobs are to educate them.

As usual, Pi Lambda Phi has begun its new semester as motivated as ever. It recruited sixteen new members, all who possess the same characteristics and enthusiasm we have been known for. This semester we look forward to the challenges that lie ahead of us, and we will surely accomplish them and continue to hold the title as the most outstanding Greek organization on campus.

We wish all of our new pledges the best of luck and encourage them to do their best by developing their leadership, academics, time management and social skills. We feel there is no better way to do this than by pledging and we know there is no better fraternity to pledge than Pi Lam. Not four years, But a lifetime...

The Indimi sisters come to Lynn University from The Federal Republic of Nigeria; these girls are Zara, Ameena, and Yakoko. The place of Nigeria is a very fascinating area, with rich culture, customs, lifestyles and much more. Currently the population is close to 100 million people. Due to the high population, there are numerous different languages spoken.

Although there are about 300 Tribal languages that are widely spoken, Ameena Indimi, one of the three sisters, is able to speak two native languages: Hausa, and Kanuri. In the school system in Nigeria The English language is taught in elementary and/or secondary education.

Ameena Indimi has aspirations of going to Medical school, as do her sisters. All of the Indimi girls are hoping for their father to build them a place where they can practice.

Ameena's favorite foods are: Pizza, Egyptian food, and Wigeau food.

The Indimi sisters are an important part of the melting pot here at Lynn University. These girls are great people to get to know, and usually can be found up by Perky's. Take the time to meet the Indimi sisters.

Thomas and Nova Universities, a new Greek Scholarship Program, and a wide variety of social gatherings. Good luck to all the new members and the brothers and sisters whose jobs are to educate them.

Things That Make You Go Hmmmm!!!

One day a wise man looked in the mirror and said,
I promise to:
Appreciate and compliment others.
Honor myself the thought and the feeling of others. Treat everyone as an equal. Accept my uniqueness talent.
Value the compliments of others. Spend quality time with myself. Seek excitement and happiness in everything I do.
Love and cherish myself unconditionally With all my heart I make
This promise to myself? Hmmmm!!!
When things go wrong, as they sometimes will.
When the low that you are trudging seems overwhelming.
When the funds are low and the debts are high but can't help to sigh, remember the reason why you are here. Success is the failure turned inside out.
Enjoy the experience of college and NEVER QUIT!

Special thanks:
Yasmine and everyone that supported and helped me see the way to where I am today.

Jason Landsman:
Freshmen
There should not be a parking policy.

Joscfin Stalavant:
Junior
As long as I can park in front of Wixted I am fine.
It's not much fun when you have to walk from Ritter to Wixted when there is a soccer game going on. that's not fair!

What Do You Think About The New Parking Policy?

Nickie Dana:
Freshman
I hate it! It is a far walk when you have had a long night, but I guess Freshman have to pay their dues.

Gabby Llach:
Sophomore
I think that the parking lot is a good addition, because everyone can have a spot now!

Jen Lupinacci:
Sophomore
The only time I hate it is when I can't find a spot!

Jake Bade:
Junior
Students living in Lynn Dorm should be able to park in the Lynn parking lot, instead of competing with Trinity, Wixted, and DeHoernle for a spot.

Toni Tomassi:
Admissions
I think it is fine! The students always parked in the lot for us, so now I finally have a spot to park in.

Too Wong Foo
By: Nicole DiNapoli
News Editor

Among all the movies out this month, there is one that stands out from the rest. The flick is called "Too Wong Foo, Thanks for Everything Julie Newmar." The title is long and so are the wigs. That's, the ones which Patrick Swayze, Wesley Snipes and John Lariano wear, along with make-up, women's clothes and high-heeled shoes.

The three men play New York Drag Queens who take a road trip in their 70's style Cadillac Convertible to Hollywood California. The two older Drag Queens, Noxema (Wesley Snipes) and (Patrick Swayze) take Chi Chi (John Lariano) as their young Queen in training.

While on the road, the three have car trouble and end up having to stay in a near by town. Since the town is some what behind the times, the people are not aware that the made up ladies high society men.

If you are looking for a light hearted movie with tons of laughs, "Too Wong Foo" is the way to go. I found the acting superb and the costumes loudly tasteful. I laughed throughout the entire movie finding nearly every scene absolutely hysterical. In my opinion, these three actors are right up there with Robin Williams.

I give ": Too Wong Foo" 3 Stars

Seven
By: Nate Flynn

On Friday, September 22, the long delayed release of Seven hit the theaters, and let's just say, "It was well worth the wait." The movie stars, Morgan Freeman, as detective Sommerset. Brad Pitt, starred as his partner detective Mills, and Gwenth Paltrow as his love interest. (Who by the way is his love interest off the screen as well.) Without giving away too much of the plot; it is mostly about Pitt and Freeman trying to track down a very psychotic serial killer. The killer bases all of his murders on the seven deadly sins (Gluttony, Pride, Lust, Envy, Sloth, Wrath, and Greed). In the movie there is a constant background of rain that accompanies every scene, which sets a very dark tone throughout the movie. I believe that the director did this intentionally because of the subject of the movie. At times it is a little hard to understand what is being said, especially Pitt, who talks softly at times throughout the movie. I would have to say that this is one of the best psychotic thrillers that I have ever seen. Some scenes are a little gory and not meant for the weak stomach. This movie surely gets my thumbs up!

Hackers
By: Claribel Corona
Life Styles Editor

Have you been to the movies lately? What have you seen? Well if you come to think about it, there are some good flicks playing. For example, I just saw "Hackers" starring Jonny Lee Miller (remember "Robin" from the recently released "Batman") as Dade Murphy and Angela Joley as "Acad Burn".

The movie takes place in New York after Dade Murphy's parents got a divorce and Dade decided to go with his mom. Ever since a young child, Dade had been a real genius with computers. An incident happened when he was 11 years old that held him back from using computers. Dade was forbidden by the court to use any type of computers or technology until he was 18 years old.

When he moved to New York, he met a group of other computer whizzes just like him. They enjoyed breaking into computer programs. For the fun of it until trouble was brought their way. Trouble as far as finding the secret tribe. There was no trace at first, but on day standing in front of them is an Indian. They followed him to a breathtaking valley. They are held prisoner at first, but when one of the head Indians son gets sick. Tom and Barbara are let go to see if they can help the sick boy. Tom goes back to the city to get some medicine. He ends up stealing, Penicillin, and the police go after him.

Tom and Barbara fall in love with each other and with the tribe and will not let anyone know about this secret tribe because they will be taken over by the government just like the rest of the Indian Tribes in America. Tom Berenger is a bounty hunter who is hired to find three escaped prisoners. Berenger finds the area where the prisoners are. He hears three gun shots. He walked in the direction where he heard the shots and found nothing except a blob of blood. It is assumed that the three prisoners were shot, killed and then abducted. Berenger finds a Indian Arrow Head in the spot where the three men were shot.

Barbara Hershey plays the Indian tribe expert in the movie. Tom goes to her and together they realize that the arrow belonged to an Indian tribe that nobody had seen in many, many years. Dogman was the name of the tribe. Tom persuades Barbara to go with him to find the tribe. There was no trace at first, but one day standing in front of them is an Indian. They followed him to a breathtaking valley. They are held prisoner at first, but when one of the head Indians son gets sick. Tom and Barbara are let go to see if they can help the sick boy. Tom goes back to the city to get some medicine. He ends up stealing, Penicillin, and the police go after him.

The end of the movie is very suspenseful. Go see the movie and find out what happens to Tom, Barbara and the secret tribe. That someone had formed a virus in the system and was blaming it on the "Hackers" (or the computer geniuses). They decide to get together and find the truth on their own with the help, of course, of the Hackers all around the world.

Yes, there is a little bit of romance for those who want to go see this movie with that special someone. It definitely keeps you interested throughout the movie. If you consider yourself a computer whiz, or are computer literate. I highly recommend this movie. If you don't like computers and know nothing about them still, you will still be amazed and fascinated.

The Pulse '11
LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Generally, when people pay for a service, it is usually understood that they are not satisfied until it has been received. If the person in charge is aware that he/she paid for a service and is not happy, then commonly speaking, to that individual is the right thing to do.

On October 23, 1995, I, along with three other people who have asked not to be identified, went to see the movie "Seven" at Mizner Park in Boca Raton. Once we arrived at Mizner, we saw the crowd and chose to make an attempt to find out if any tickets were available. We walked up to the window and asked if there were any remaining tickets and we were told that there were. When we entered the theater we were surprised that there were no seats left. This was something which we all found to be very irritating, because we had all had ticket stubs indicating that we had the right to a seat. Since all of us really wanted to see this movie, we decided to stay and simply sit on the floor in the back aisle against the wall.

While sitting on the floor, two of the girls present began to ask questions about the movie. Although the girls were asking questions, they were not being loud or bothering others. There was an individual who decided to be really large pest. This individual complained to the manager of the theater that four girls were sitting on the floor and disturbing him. This is where it all really came about. The manager came into the movie which were trying to watch and within the first five minutes we were asked why we were sitting in a fire hazard zone. I was actually wondering this myself. The manager then asked us to leave the theater. I honestly feel that he wanted us out because he wanted to make the individual who complained happy. This entire issue caused me to get a little upset.

I then took it upon myself to ask a great deal of questions. I informed the manager that the four of us were angry that we had to sit on the floor for a movie that we paid to see and told him that we had every right to sit in a chair just like every other customer in that theater. I let the manager know that I was very unhappy with the entire situation of the theater overselling tickets, having to sit on the floor, being threatened to be kicked out, then falsely accused. I reminded the manager that all of us had our ticket stubs which he could check but refused to. I told the manager that I thought he should check to see who did not have ticket stubs that way he could remove them from the theater for movie hopping. Technically, that would have been the right thing to do - but, that never happened.

The manager threatened to bring call police if the four of us did not leave the theater. As a result, all of us were very upset and continued to tell the manager that we had paid to see the movie and were then rudely kicked out. The manager proceeded to kick us out of the theater and offered us free movie passes for a later date. We all felt that the free passes were not sufficient. The point being, we were there to see a specific movie at a certain time and I was offered ticket from the person that worked at the ticket window.

This is my entire case. Was it the right thing for the theater to do by kicking out the four girls that had paid to see the movie? Personally, I felt myself being treated wrongly, being that I am a paying customer. I also would have found it interesting to see if a man of a different nationalities would have complained, what type of action would have been taken. None of us accepted the free movie passes because we were all very upset that we paid to see a movie and that another group of individuals could just walk in without showing any ticket stub and take the right we had to see the movie away. But, what I really dislike is the fact that the entire point is the tickets to the movie were sold out, which means we were unable to see the movie we paid to see and we now had to see it at the convenience of the theater. I do not find it fair that the four of us, who are absolute Mizner movie fanatics, had to go through such an uncalled for event. Dear Editor - please try to understand how hard it is for me to say that I can understand why the manager at Mizner treated us so badly because I cannot. I do not see a great number of my friends going there much anymore. I am very glad to share this news with 'The Pulse' because it tells others that people get cheated daily. In a way, I was cheated very bad and I paid for it. As a result of this, I do not see myself going to Mizner theaters to see a movie much, if at all, for the rest of the year.

Sincerely Mistreated,
- Pauline De La Peza
