Welcome Back Knights!

By NATALE SMITH
Staff Writer

Welcome new students! At first the college experience can be a little overwhelming, so I thought I might help you by compiling a list of items that you may not get from your college catalog. You may find some more humorous than helpful, but I promise they all are equally valid.

- Consider the option of bunk beds to save much needed space.
- Lighting is a necessity. Buy lots of lamps.
- Wipe-off message boards are a good investment for notes to roommates.
- Buy a 6-pack of dry erase markers; they always manage to disappear.
- No matter what anyone tells you, do not swim in the lake.
- Contact paper can make your sink a lovely marble or wood-grained finish.
- Many people use the showers; shower shoes are an absolute must to avoid foot problems.
- Always leave the A.C. on to avoid the mildew that’s in South Florida.
- Remember all roommates need to be sensitive to each other; they can be lasting friends or the entire evil empire.
- Never mix colors when doing laundry!
- Join an organization to keep busy and make friends.
- Free condoms are available in the nurse’s office. Protect Yourself!
- College is a melting pot of ages, races, beliefs, backgrounds and interests all sitting together. Don’t close yourself off from experiences with any of these students. This is the world and you are a part of it.
- If you are going off campus, always remember to take your student I.D. if you’re coming back after hours.
- Do not forget to take your I.D. to all meals. Lizzie will make you go back and get it.
- Register for the Spring Term early.
- If you skip a class, do not go to lunch where you may see your professor.
- Get at least one person’s phone number in class; you most likely will need it.
- Finally, college is very different from high school. You have complete freedom to become successful in your life—or you can fail, all by yourself. For better or worse, in college and life, it’s all up to you.
