Thomas Rides The Waves To Win
A Pioneer In A New Sport
by Nalini Maharaj

Brandon Thomas skims over the waves at warp speed. A pioneer in the new sport of wakeskating, the Orlando native and Lynn junior is a veteran wakeboarder who, at the age of 20, has already racked up national championships and been featured on "ESPN2," Fuel TV, Sports Illustrated and Men's Journal and stars in "Asterisk," the second wakeskating video.

"There's no better feeling, says Thomas. "It's a fun sport to do in Florida when it's blazing hot out" he added.

This really down-to-earth surf-skater whose friends call him B-Pac, started wakeboarding in his junior year in high school and switched platforms to wakeskating - basically skateboarding on water, using ramps, rails, and slide docks - during his senior year. He is now sponsored by Hyperlite Board Company and Reef.

Lee Haessler, one of B-Pac's friends, says "He's very talented and hardworking. He knows what he has to do in order to accomplish his goals and he will pave the way for other wakeskaters."

How do you feel about the Janet Jackson and Justin Timberlake incident at the Super Bowl halftime show?

Jason Davis, senior "I didn't like it. I wanted to watch football, not celebrities getting exposed. There is nothing wrong with that kind of thing being on TV, but people have a choice about viewing it; and with this incident, that choice was taken away from us."

Katie Meiller, freshman "I think it was probably a mistake, and I don't think it was done on purpose. I don't think she should be punished at all, it wasn't her fault."

Lynn Softball Takes Two
Knights Start Right
by Mauricio Botero

Unlike the baseball team, weather did not get in the way of the softball team for their first game of the season on Monday Feb. 3. In fact, nothing got in the way of the girls who started their season in style by sailing through the doubleheader to jump up to a 2-0 start. Behind opportune hitting and solid pitching, the Knights swept the Seahawks.

The first game was won 6-2 by the Knights. Pitcher Kelly Gardner was unstoppable. She threw a complete game allowing only one run, five hits and two strikeouts, cutting short any rally from the opposing team.

The Seahawks went ahead in the second inning. Third base player Shannon Ireland started the inning with a triple and then scored off a single from Keller. The Knights took no time to respond. In the same inning, Tiffany King started with a walk and was later brought home by Christina Rolla's sacrifice fly to tie the game.

After the second inning, Gardner took control of the game and retired the following innings without too many complications.

The break came for the Knights in the fourth inning. Kim Casey hit a 2-run single which gave the Knights a 3-1 lead, which they extended to 4-1 before the inning closed out. With the score 4-2 in the bottom of the fifth, the Knights buried the game. A two-run homer off the bat of Rebecca McNerney brought the game to a close at 6-2.

The second game was dominated from start to finish by the Knights, winning 8-0. Erin McNerney was untouchable, pitching a five-hitter.
Though she's an English major, Orsi Ficsor has a poetic eye. In this photo essay shot for her class in photojournalism, she took stairs as her subject matter and metaphor.

"I like the contrast... where architecture blends with nature," says this native of Hungary who's been in the U.S. for eight years.

Where others might see similarities, Orsi sees the differences in compositions which suggest an almost melancholy view of a journey of possibilities which begins with a single set of steps.

"Things can be the same, but different at the same time."

Bar and Grill For Anyone
by Shay Black

Max's Grill, Boynton Beach Ale House, Raw Bar and Bru's Room Sports Bar are all places where you can enjoy inside or outside dining everyday. If you are tired of the same old places to go each week and are looking to meet new people, then here are a few spots.

Max's Grill - Delicious food and wine for any fine cuisine lover. Max's Grill has everything from burgers to unique seafood dishes. Their wine list is one of the largest in the country. This dining experience will tempt your taste buds while putting a minor hole in your pocket.

Located in Boca Raton's Mizner Park and complete with live musical performances, the pricey outing is well worth it. Many celebs dine here, which makes each trip a bit more exciting than the last if you're lucky.

404 Plaza Real, Boca Raton, FL, (561)-368-0080.

Boynton Beach Ale House and Raw Bar - Unforgettable wings at a low price. Their wings are like no other! But if wings aren't your thing, their unbelievable large meat dishes are enough to fill any stomach. You can also join the fun for sporting events. The place fills up with a crowd that's lots of fun for everyone! Don't take my word for it, you must come check it out for yourself.

Located at 2212 N. Congress Ave, Boynton Beach, FL 33426, (561)-586-1376.

Movies That'll Move You

Nalini's Feedback
by Nalini Mahara

• The Butterfly Effect *****

Starring Ashton Kutcher and Amy Smart is probably the best movie I have seen in a long time. It will really make you wonder about how your life could be different if you could go back and change one thing in your childhood.

Ashton Kutcher turns in a surprisingly impressive performance in his first serious movie. After the classics "Dude Where's My Car" and his MTV show "Punk'd", Kutcher proves he can be more than just cute and funny. This movie will keep you on the edge of your seat.

Monster  Based on a true story, starring Charlize Theron and Christina Ricci, was a real disappointment. No doubt Theron deserved her Golden Globe Award, considering the transformation she underwent to fit the character of a prostitute who turns serial killer, but, the movie is slow moving and drags on. I think it was too hyped up for what it turns out to be.

• Along Came Polly *****

This movie was hysterical. There is really no better combo than Jennifer Aniston and Ben Stiller. A worrisome guy who falls in love with a risky out of control girl is a perfect scenario to see on a date.

• 21 Grams ****

Danielle Miller, sophomore “I don’t think it was planned, yet I still think it was inappropriate. People of all ages watch the super bowl, and I don’t think kids should see that.”

Matthew Frank, junior “I think it was done on purpose, but its definitely not as big of a deal as everyone is making it.”

Elana Vartanian, junior “I really don’t think its that big of a deal. It’s not like we haven’t seen hers before!”

Talia Sabo, senior “I don’t think it’s a big deal at all. They should just let it go, but there are just getting carried away with it”

Benjy Horowitz, senior “I think the fact that she was covering it made it seem like it was planned and that she knew it was going to happen.”

one I would recommend. Starring Naomi Watts, Sean Penn and Benicio Del Toro, it's based on how they are bound together for the rest of their lives because of one deadly car accident. "How much does your life weigh?" This is the tagline to this very intense and sad movie. Those of you who are really sensitive will probably shed a tear. It is a very good movie that's overlooked.

Thomas C'td

In March, he'll be prepping for his second Pro Tour, which begins April 30, 2004. Last year, Thomas finished third in the Pro Tour and second in the World Triple Crown.

"He's awesome, extremely talented and skillful," says friend Elizabeth Mason.

Thomas' most memorable moment on the water, as he reminisced, was after he suffered an injury.

"After I broke my leg wakeskating and was able to ride again, I was more motivated and got more serious."

Thomas practices out at Crystal Lake or The Cable Park and will tour in Orlando, Texas, California, British Columbia, Portland, and Indianapolis. He will return to Florida in October.

Black History BBQ
BSU Brings Campus Together
by Sara Assad

Lynn's Black Student Union (BSU) founded by Felicia Hatcher kicked off Black History Month with a poolside barbecue. Fifteen years ago, Dr. Carter Woodsen, feeling that history books largely ignored the black society, took matters into his own hands and started writing about black American history. He established the Association for the Study of Afro-American Life and History. The reason why he chose February to represent this occasion is because Frederick Douglass and Abraham Lincoln, two men who greatly influenced him and were responsible for forwarding black history, were born in that month.

At Lynn, Hatcher, who founded BSU just last semester, hopes that the tradition will continue. Advised by Judy Welsh, the coordinator of the Discovery Writing Center, Hatcher and fifteen other members of the group, wish to encourage the Lynn student body to recognize the importance of the African-American society.

Hatcher said, "Our main goal this year is to simply create cultural awareness. When we accomplish that, we'll move on to bigger targets." [Continued on Page 8]

Lynn Softball Sweeps First Week of Play

The Fighting Knights Unrivalled
by Mauricio Botero

Finish with a 4-0 record and outscoring their opponents 29-3, the softball team cruised past the first week of the season. Northwood and Palm Beach Atlantic had no answer for the overpowering offense and the lights-out pitching of the Knights.

Tiffany King

Every aspect of the game was clicking. It looks like it's going to be their season. Thanks to the power pitching of Erin McNierney and Kelly Gardner, the Knights had only one close game, which ended with a 1-0 win over Palm Beach Atlantic.

Kelly Gardner

Great start to the season. The Knights will have three games next week when they repeat against Northwood on Feb. 11, and against North Florida at home on Feb. 14 in a game Adcock says will be challenging and on Feb. 15, when they face Florida Gulf Coast in Fort Myers.
Baseball's Rocky Start
Errors Costly For The Knights
by Mauricio Botero

The first week of the season left the Fighting Knights with a 1-4 record after their first two games were rained out. Shaky defense, disappointing pitching and run production below expected characterized the season's start. If it wasn't for Francisco Dinzey's bad luck, the Knights wouldn't have any luck at all.

In the game against Montevallo on Feb. 7 they scored 16 runs, only to be beaten by one.

George Brandner, Francisco Dinzey and Mark Menahem were standouts offensively for a team that needed it badly. The Knights also played Barry on Feb 10 and lost 9-8. and will square off against Tampa University on Feb 14 and 15. Maybe in this series, the Knights will find a way to win and change their luck.

Off Campus Delights
Valentine Dinner Spots
by Shay Black

Take your sweetheart out for an extravagant evening on this special day that she, or he, won't forget. If you can't find the perfect spot, here are some suggestions. City Oyster - With candle lit tables and the excitement of Atlantic Avenue right outside, you are bound to get a kiss from your date. It's a very busy place but no worries; the service is quick, personalized and efficient. City Oyster, as you would expect, specializes in savory seafood, including well-made and fresh sushi. Your taste buds will soar.

The breadbasket will help tide you over if you're hungry. But, beware of the Caesar salad because the overly generous portion of anchovies makes your otherwise crisp and light appetizer quite fishy.

The atmosphere is pretty loud during the weekends, but still enjoyable on the porch area where your pets are welcome (on a leash).

213 East Atlantic Avenue, Delray Beach, (561)-272-0220

La Cigale - Anyone is welcome with at least a collared shirt, however, La Cigale does not accept reservations. Live music and a detailed menu make your time well spent waiting for your date to arrive. You come here to enjoy the scene and atmosphere, not the conversation.

La Cigale is calorie and cholesterol conscious cooking with light oils on the grill. They serve mostly fish dishes, unique salads and appetizers, but their tender filet mignon is a favorite. I also recommend the juicy shrimp Caesar salad, or the succulent Dolphin.

The chocolate desserts are so rich, a doggy bag is necessary because it can't go to waste. Dessert is a desirable late night snack when you're home cuddled on the couch together. No doubt, it's hard on your pocket (about $35.00 each), but when you're finished your date will crumble on a walk down the beach.

1010 East Atlantic Avenue, Delray Beach, (561)-276-6453

Oceans 234 - Filled with romantic music and a quieter sound level, you will always enjoy your meal. Their shrimp pasta is very soft and lightly seasoned in addition to the delicious side salad that begins with the meal. Although their menu is satisfying, their prices push you a bit, but it's worth spending on for special occasions and special people.

Furthermore, the beach front location, next to the Deerfield Beach pier, will guarantee your after dinner planning more extravagant.

You can walk on the beach or down the pier, although the aroma is not very romantic when you reach the fishermen. At Oceans 234, plans just fall into place on such a special day.

234 North Ocean Drive, Deerfield Beach, (954)-428-2539 or 426-8261.

More than seventy people came to the pool to mingle and socialize at the BSU's first annual Back Yard BBQ.

Andrea Bruno said, "The BBQ was a very good idea; the food was good and it was a great way to socialize and it gave me a nice break from studying!"

Hatcher said the BBQ had, "A very good turn out...more than we had expected. As you can see, it was a beautiful mix of cultures and people, and I'm very pleased with that."

Throughout this month, BSU will be sponsoring a number of events, such as a Valentine's Day Raffle, and a Black Inventors Challenge in which contestants will be challenged to go a day without using any inventions by an African-American, such as the hair brush, the door knob and the golf tee.

Spring Break 2004!

Hooked Up On The Hot Spots!
by Nalini Maharaj

Spring Break is certainly the most popular holiday among college students in the United States. Less than three weeks away now, everyone is getting ready and feeling anxious for the long-awaited week off to travel and have a good time. If you don’t have any plans yet, you better hop on it before it’s too late, and start booking today to get a good deal on prices.

Usual hot spots include Cancun, the Keys and more, but this year, also consider beautiful and exotic Jamaica, South Padre Island in Texas, Acapulco and Cabo San Lucas in Mexico. All of these places have great rates, beautiful people and amazing beaches where you are guaranteed to have an unforgettable time.

In case you don’t want to travel that far but still want to have a memorable Spring Break, traveling the state is also a popular option. There are many hot spots in Florida that will be bumping for Spring Break.

South Beach is the probably the most fun place to be and it is so close to us you just need to hop in your car with a back pack, get a hotel for the week and enjoy the rest. Another option which isn’t far away either are the Keys which always guarantee a crazy week of wild partying and fun.

If you want to get out of Florida, head up to South Carolina and go to Myrtle Beach.

Do you feel America is safe from another terrorist attack?

Marcus Hayes, junior "Yes; I believe we are safe as we have enough terror alerts to warn us of anything. I think we're more cautious now because of the past."

Veronica Landgern, senior "No; I feel it can happen at any time. However, the government is taking the necessary precautions and doing a good job with warning us about any danger."

Ben Breier, staff "Yes, because security is heightened and more extreme now. People shouldn't be afraid of terrorist because that's what they want; terrorism means you are terrified of someone or something else."

Knights Sweep And Get Swept
by Mauricio Botero

The Lynn softball team went 2-2 on their 4-game weekend against North Florida and Florida Gulf Coast.

Nationally ranked North Florida came out strong and snatched 2 games away from the Knights on Saturday, Feb. 14, ending the Knights' unbeaten streak.

The first game was tied at 1, when, in the 3rd inning, North Florida scored twice to staple the game at 3-1. Christina Rolla had the lone RBI for the Knights.

The second stanza of the double-header started with a 1-0 Knight lead. But, after that, the squad went on a continuous slide downhill towards the final 10-1. Brandi Rolla Webb's homerun in the very first inning was the only highlight for the Knights in the game.

The women showed better against Florida Gulf Coast on Sunday, Feb. 15. In two very tight doubleheaders, they took both.

In the first game, Rolla, once again, stepped up and sent one sailing over the fence in the 7th inning.

Two Losses In Three Games
by Mauricio Botero

A three-game road trip to Tampa last weekend left the Fighting Knights with a 2-6 record. A doubleheader split and a loss on Valentine's Day was the story of those two days.

On Saturday, Feb. 14, the Knights lost a lopsided game 11-4. The Knights lost control in the 5th inning when Tampa managed to get 6 runs across the plate.

For Lynn, the lone offensive spark was provided by Dave Burns, Jared Katzman and Alex Anguiano, while Eric Crawford and Justin Steinbach shined from the bullpen by being untouchable.

But, Sunday, Feb. 15 was a better day for the Knights. They managed to pull out a split in their doubleheader. The first game gave the Knights an 8-5 win.

The control on the mound from starter Travis Osborn combined with the bat of Francisco Dinzey, were key factors that pushed the team towards their second win of the season.

Dinzey finished the game 5-for-5 with 3 RBIS, while Osborn pitched 8.2 innings allowing 5 runs and striking out 10 batters.

The second game was also a double digit loss for Lynn.

An overpowering Tampa offense boosted the Spartans to a 12-2 win over the Knights. Beau McMillan's and George Brandner's solo homeruns Continued on Page 8
The Lynn women's tennis team is off to another impressive start. The women, currently hold the No. 2 national ranking. Seniors Marie Barbier and Monika Mastalirova are ranked individually in the nation's top twelve and also hold the No. 1 doubles ranking in Division II.

After blowing away the No. 1 ranked national junior college team, Broward Community College in an exhibition match, they have yet to look back, blanking Nova Southeastern, Palm Beach Atlantic and Florida Tech.

The Lynn women's tennis team is off to another impressive start after destroying conference foe, Florida Tech, 9-0, on Wednesday, Feb. 11. Newcomers Eduardo Morones and Regnier Azevedo are maintaining their impressive play in both their singles and doubles matches. Veteran Oscar Argaez continues to blow away his opponents at 5th singles and 3rd doubles.

The men took care of conference opponent St. Thomas on Tuesday, Feb. 17 with a shutout victory of 9-0. They are scheduled to play conference rival Rollins on Sunday Feb. 22 in Winter Park, FL.
Off-Campus Gourmet Lunchtime Get A ways
by Shay Black

Gourmet To Go In this lighthearted, but busy atmosphere you will enjoy homemade soups, light lunches and gourmet salads. They are certainly busy during lunch hours, so make sure you give yourself enough time.

A nice feature of G-T-G is that if you’re not sure about what to order, they let you have a taste.

I personally recommend the Chicken Salad with literally the softest and moist chicken I ever tasted. Light seasonings give it a delicious and exotic flavor.

The Caprese Salad and Greek Salad Extraordinaire are fresh and crisp with any of your favorite toppings. Also fitting is the succulent homemade roasted turkey deluxe with fresh provolone and any topping you like.

Once you’ve discovered your favorites or are too busy to stop to eat in, G-T-G gives you the option to choose from many different sizes of daily fresh pre-made goods for you to take home. 302 N.E. 4th Street, Delray Beach. Open M-F 9-7p.m., Sat. 10-4; 561-274-3085.

Panera Bread If you are tired of the typical American fast-food chain restaurants, with Panera Bread - and a little bit of your imagination - you can spend a delightful lunchtime in a very European café-like atmosphere. With tables outside under a covered patio, the setting is very much like the typical French café on the streets of Paris.

You can order in and enjoy a comfortable atmosphere with a choice of tables, booths and couches.

The European feeling doesn’t end here. The smell of baked bread and pastry will overwhelm you. Everything is homemade and fresh and prepared as ordered. The menu is truly extensive. You can find any type of bread, from wheat, rye, white, grain and specialty loaves like asiago cheese. They also have a wide variety of meats and other ingredients to compose sandwiches.

They also offer delicious soup specialties every day and various crisp salads. My personal favorite is the tuna on multi-grain with flavorful vegetarian chili. Panera Bread makes many vegetarian specialties.

If you are still not filled after your entree, you can always go for something from their bakery, ranging from delicious Danish to muffins, tarts and cookies fresh out of the oven with soft, chewy centers.

You will never get tired of their menu and you will always be tempted to come back to try more. You can also call in an order to pick up. 222 NW 51st Street; 561-997-2515 or Delray at 1701 S. Federal Highway; 561-330-3787.

D’Best Sandwich Shop Eat d’ best sandwiches here! Although the atmosphere is a little dull, the variety of sandwiches and their quality certainly make up for it. With lunch specials under $10, it’s a good deal to eat here.

The signature turkey salad is a generous portion with crisp romaine lettuce, grated parmesan cheese, croutons and a creamy homemade dressing.

The fresh cut rib eye is highly recommended if you’re a meat person and you can have it any way you like it. All of the sandwiches are made in a choice of three ways: Philly, NY, or Pizza style. Since you can’t try all three styles at once, this will keep you coming back.

They also offer delivery and take out just a phone call away. Anyway you like it, you’re going to get it here. 5201 N. Dixie Highway, Boca Raton; 561-241-5155 ext. 1200.

Judges of the Film Festival "TITLE". Best editing went to juniors Jeff Bolter and Brandon Thomas for their point of view film "TITLE" and best cinematography went to sophomore Alex Defrancisco for "Therapy on 869".

Junior Ellen Scripps was named best actress. Judges for the awards included students, Brendan Reynolds and Mark McGhee, and faculty members Myles Ludwig, Denise Belafonte and Coleman Bender of the College of International Communication.

Before you make a final decision, be sure to check out these spots at StudentCity.com; they have all the hookups for Spring Break 2004.

Lynn can also hook you up for Spring Break with many trips worth three credits and a week of excitement. The College of Hospitality, Tourism and Recreation Management is organizing two trips: one to Italy and the other to Costa Rica and Panama. The Ross College of Education will be visiting Spain and Ireland and the Communication College will set foot on one of the Carnival Cruise ships and sail to the Caribbean.

Junior Jenny Magiet, who will attend the Spain-Ireland trip says, “It will be my first time in Europe. It’s an opportunity of a lifetime for three credits.”

Business Student Starts New Clothing Line
by Sara Assad

A senior at Lynn in Business Administration, 21-year-old John Lallo, recently started his own business. Along with his two sisters, Erica and Melissa, both LU graduates, they launched their own clothing company called SIMARA boutique, at the beginning of 2004.

Lallo named his boutique after a rather sad experience. SIMARA, is a tribute to one of his friends and a former student at Lynn, Aramis Beikian, who passed away in a car accident in Costa Rica. SIMARA is in fact Aramis spelt backwards.

The clothing line was under construction from last September, while Lallo and his sisters were working on the starting and finishing touches of the launching.

SIMARA specializes in women’s T-shirts, boy-cut panties and is soon starting another line sells terry cloths and California sweat suits. Currently, most of the sales are online through their website, www.simaraboutique.com/, and just recently, they have acquired a sales representative for South Florida.

The Youngstown, Ohio native hopes that when he graduates in May, the boutique will still be doing well enough to allow him to dedicate his full time to SIMARA.

Fighting Knights Get Swept

by Mauricio Botero

The Knights did not begin their conference play the way they wanted to. The team's visit to Rollins this past weekend left them with three losses.

In the first game, on Friday Feb. 20, Rollins pulled off a 6-3 win. Pitcher Joe Lakey was unable to stop the Rollins offense, which scored four times in the first half of the game. Unlike Rollins, the Knights offense wasn't present as they were only able to connect seven hits from four different players.

The Knights and Tars also competed in a doubleheader on Saturday. The result of those two games was the same as the one on Friday. The Knights dropped both.

In the first game, Travis Osborn, whose personal record was 2-0 so far, saw his first loss of the season come along as the Tars won 4-1.

Despite the unsatisfactory result, Francisco Dinzezey and George Brandner once again stepped up for the Knights, while Beau McMillan also performed well at the plate.

The second game was taken under control by Rollins' pitching from the very start. Eduardo Chile threw a nearly perfect complete game. A single hit from Brandner saved the Knights from a no-hitter. The Tars won the game 6-0.

The Knights return to action on Friday Feb. 27th, when they will host the Lynn tournament.

Three Games, Two Losses

by Mauricio Botero

Last weekend, against Rollins, was rather disappointing for the Fighting Knights who weren't able to continue their hot start of the season.

The only bright moment for the team came on Friday when the Knights defeated the Tars 4-1. Rollins was first to score in the first inning. It wasn't until the fifth that the Knights tied when Kim Casey got a bases loaded walk.

Aimee Murch then brought the game under the Knights' control, retiring nine of the last 11 batters.

The Knight's final chance started with consecutive singles by Jessica Adcock and Jenna Piotrowski, which set the stage for Brandi Webb's homerun and gave Lynn the win.

Saturday, however, was a different story. The Knights were not able to stop the Tars and lost the doubleheader.

In the first game, Jamie Elam was the key player for the Tars, both in pitching and offense. Elam allowed no runs and hit a pair of homers sinking the Knights 5-0. Piotrowski collected two hits.

In the second game, Lynn wasn't able to hold onto their 3-1 lead. Piotrowski's homer and good pitching by Kelly Gardner weren't enough to stop Rollins and the Knights eventually gave in 5-3 in eight innings.

The women will return to action Saturday, Feb. 28 and Sunday, Feb. 29, in Valdosta, Ga.

Women Dominate, Men Fall

by Justin Cohen

The No. 2 ranked women’s tennis team dominated No. 7 ranked Rollins in a must win conference match up, on Sunday, Feb. 22. The women started off the game in great fashion by sweeping through all three doubles matches. Seniors Marie Barbier and Monika Mastalirova, the number 1 doubles pair and top nationally ranked team were the only ones really pushed to their limit. They prevailed 8-6.

Newcomers Dragana Illic and Andrea Kostricova both lost their first match of the season at number one and three singles. However, with key wins from Mastalirova, Barbier, Dina Bajramovic and Monse Palacios, the Knights captured a 7-2 road victory. This match truly tested the women and proved that they can play under pressure against the top teams.

The women now hold a very respectable record of 6-0.

On the other hand, the men were not as successful. Regnier Azevedo and Dennis Riegraf, the number 2 doubles team, as well as Oscar Argaez and Justin Cohen, the number 3 team, all fell short. The lone doubles victory came from Eduardo Morones and Jan Macko. They upset their opponents, who are ranked 11 nationally, 8-5.

The match was decided in the singles department. Azevedo and Riegraf played strong but were destroyed 6-0, 6-2 and 6-0, 6-4. Freshman Dominik Selig also lost easily 6-1, 6-2, ending any remaining hopes for the Fighting Knights. Down 5-1, the Knights had already lost but this being a conference game, it had to play out until the end. At number one singles, after winning the second set 6-1, Morones forced a third set against Rollins’ number one. The momentum was clearly in Morones’ favor but, battling a bad cold that had been bothering him for a few days, he was forced to retire.

After starting incredibly slow, Veteran Argaez, who is known to fight until the end, came back to destroy his opponent 6-4, 6-2. Jan Macko also finished off his opponent at third singles in fine fashion winning in a second set tiebreak.

Next up for both the men and women is a home game against Eckerd College on Saturday Feb. 28 at 2:30pm. Coach Perez said that this is a must win match for the men if they want to make it to nationals.
Despite all being part of the same Big Time Restaurant Group, City Oyster, Big City Tavern, Piccolo City, City Cellar Wine Bar and Grill and John Bull English Pub, they each have their own character.

Big City Tavern - Regardless of their name, this place is more than a tavern. Instead, it is dressy and classy with an old fashioned bar area, antique photos and dark wood. Candles and circular chandeliers give it a romantic atmosphere perfect for someone special. Service is polite and courteous. They are always willing to satisfy your seating preference and change any meal ingredients that you don't like.

With a delicious selection of meats and fish, I recommend the seared tuna for starters and the grilled chicken with fresh mozzarella cheese on a baguette for the main course. The Caesar salad is deliciously creamy and anchovy-less compared to the one at City Oyster. For further convenience, this restaurant is right around the corner from Lynn, at 5250 Town Center Circle, (561)-361-4551.

City Cellar Wine Bar and Grill - This is a snazzy place with moderate prices. Set in downtown West Palm Beach, if you are in the area, this is the place to eat. The Italian-style setting inside is as classy as Big City. The dimmed lights, at night, create a romantic atmosphere but may hinder your ability to read the menu. If you don't understand items on the menu, the waiter is always understanding and willing to help.

The tempting aroma from their grill outside and the authentic seasoning styles will inevitably stimulate your appetite.

All the food is prepared with plenty of herbs and dashes of refreshing oils for taste. Lunch offers an assortment of salads, sandwiches and pastas. If you want a light lunch, I would recommend the spinach and gorgonzola salad with apple-wood smoked bacon, portabella mushrooms, figs, croutons, cherry tomatoes, pine nuts and a sweet balsamic vinaigrette.

You should also try the Mediterranean tuna salad on Ciabatta bread with olive, tomato, caper, basil, and onions. You won't regret it!

Dinner includes calamari with roasted garlic lemon aioli with a soft tomato chili sauce or roasted pepper, olives and camponata antipasto with a heath of piadina bread covered in ricotta salata, my personal favorite.

Their pizzas are made with original ingredients, including Gorgonzola, sun-dried tomatoes, smoked provolone, fresh rosemary and basil, caramelized onions and more.

Their seafood dishes are all prepared pasta-style but pasta is optional. The Chilean sea bass fettuccini which comes with vegetables, pancetta, garlic aioli, cannelloni beans, all in a red wine sauce, is definitely a favorite. 700 South Rosemary Avenue, City Place, West Palm Beach, (561)-366-0071.

Look for next week's journey to foreign lands for ethnic foods!

The business seems to be booming now, but the Lallo's started out very small. The line mainly defined itself with T-shirts and panties. As they are growing, they have more merchandise and their new designs are widely anticipated.

The only problem they encountered was getting funds for capital. Putting his complete trust and faith into this boutique, Lallo used most of his savings and took out small loans to overcome this challenge.

The designer of the line is mainly Erica Lallo, who has a Fashion Designing degree from Lynn. Melissa Lallo, who earned her B.A. in International Business, also from Lynn, has also worked in retail and has a good idea of what is going to sell and what won't. The sisters' experience helped immensely in launching the line.

SIMARA boutique is mainly advertised through word-of-mouth and just recently, the Lallo's sales representative helped them come out with a new promotional flyer. They also promote through a mailing list of their website to their faithful costumers.

SIMARA boutique hopes to launch its' new products and merchandise before the summer.

What is KIC
It's Not Too Late To Join
by Nalini Maharaj

Knights in the Community (KIC), is a Lynn student organization that provides many volunteer opportunities in our area. The volunteering usually takes place on Saturdays, with organizations such as Kids in Distress, Habitat for Humanity, YMCA, Broward Outreach Center, and Gateway Community Outreach Center.

So far this semester, KIC has worked on two projects for Habitat for Humanity homes in Boynton. Nine students participated in this activity on Jan. 24 and Feb. 21. The volunteers helped to dig a four-foot-deep hole for an electrical pole.

"I had fun and thought it was a good social experience. I wish more people had signed up to help another family who needs shelter, because this is a good thing," says freshman Jessica Bernstein.

On April 1, from 3-6 p.m. KIC is hosting an Easter Egg Hunt and carnival. Two groups of children will attend, so KIC needs more help from other organizations.

KIC meets every Thursday at 5:30 p.m. on the second floor of the Lynn Student Center. New members are always welcome. But if you can't make the meetings and still want to be a part of KIC, contact Justine Mitchell at extension 7153 or Kelly James at extension 9074.

Traveling Abroad

With less than two weeks left to Spring Break, the campus is buzzing. For international students, traveling out of the U.S. can be particularly challenging. Ever since the events of 9/11, security at airports in the United States has tightened tremendously. For a non-citizen of the United States, the journey through customs can be nerve racking, but as long as the following details are organized before traveling, there should be no need for worries.

According to Sheila Sheppard, associate director of international programs at Lynn, before leaving the United States, international students must be sure to have their I-20 form signed by Lynn. Students must also be certain to have the proper visa in order to enter their Spring Break destination.

Still, re-entering the U.S. can be a daunting experience for international students. "I had to wait four hours in line before going through," said Sara Assad.

But once the details are finalized, nothing stands between you and good times.

Department of Education (ED) is taking to help students fight this problem. Paige announced the launching of ED's new web resource - www.Ed.gov/misused - which advises students on how to detect identity theft as well as providing them with tips on how to protect their identity. Paige also introduced the ED Hotline (1-800-MISUSED) for anyone who suspects student loan fraud.

"Identity theft is one of the fastest growing crimes against consumers," said Paige.
